NEW RUNNING TIME RUMORED

THOUGHT POSSIBLE BRANCH
TRAIN WILL CHANGE.

Rumored That 7:30 is to Be Leaving
Hour for Joseph Train Soon.

NEW RUNNING TIME.

Late this afternoon the rumor that the branch line would start on a new schedule on next Sunday, was verified. Henceforth the Joseph train will leave La Grande at 7:30 and arrive at Joseph at 11:20 a. m. On the return trip it will start from Joseph at 12:40 and is scheduled to arrive in La Grande at 4:30 p. m. This new schedule is to become effective Sunday, November 9.

It is rumored that the passenger on the branch line to Joseph will change time commencing with Sunday. The train has been leaving at 9 a. m. up to the present time but during the winter months it is likely that it will leave at 7:30 a. m. if the new schedule is confirmed. Local officials of the road confirmed the rumor but stated that they had no confirmation of the intended change and until that arrives the schedule will remain as it is now.

It is likely that snow drifts in the canyons along the route during the winter are responsible for the change, if it comes about. An afternoon wind has been the cause for some of the delays, blowing much snow on the track and impeding the incoming train. The new schedule would give the crews ample time to clear the track and thus decrease the possibility of delay. Confirmation or denial of the report will be published next Saturday.

AT SHERRY'S.

"McMann's troubles" is the offering for tonight of the Basco-Brown Musical Comedy company. The action of the play centers around the efforts of Dan McMannus (A. B. Basco), and Ludwig Achultz, his friend, a German; baron (Ed Harrington), to entertain a celebrated Danseuse (Miss Billy Vincent), during the absence in the country of Mrs. McMannus (Minna Moran).

As soon as the actress arrives the two old sports' troubles begin, as the two servants of McMannus perpetrate all sorts and manners of jokes on them, much to their discomfort. John, the man servant, (Billy Nixon) and Kitty, the maid, (Miss Naudia Melville), have an opportunity to show their versatility and the fun is fast and furious and the climax is reached on the unexpected return of Mrs. McMannus, who missed her train and catches the two old sinners right at the height of the fun and their unsuccessful efforts to convince her that all is as it should be provokes great laughter and places the two old cronies in a laugh provoking situation.

The chorus is seen in several pretty numbers and past criticisms place this bill at the top of the list of offerings of this popular company.

Friday night the company will present "The Chorus Girls' Contest," one of the most amusing features in musical comedy and so popular with tabloid audiences.

STATE TRAVELERS HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McCully on Way to Portland in Automobile.

Having once circled the state this summer in a 1500 mile drive in which Mrs. McCully was the driver, much of the way and partook of hardships that go hand in hand with an interior Oregon auto tour, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McCully, of Joseph, left La Grande this morning by auto for Portland to spend the winter. They arrived from Joseph, their summer home, yesterday and after visiting at the Mrs. M. N. Cohoon home last night, took their departure this morning for the metropolis.

CARELESS WITH GOLD.

Any Old Thing Serves the Klondikers
For Holding Nuggets.

Persons who are accustomed to observe the extreme care with which bankers handle gold would be astonished by the lax methods of the men who risk their lives for the precious metal in sparsely settled regions where it is mined.

In the log cabins in which Klondikers live it has to take its chance along with boots, cooking utensils and provisions, waiting to be transported by the most expeditious route. Any receptacle, it seems, is good enough to hold gold. Old tobacco cans and fruit and vegetable cans stand full of nuggets on the shelves, and sacks of gold dust are dumped upon the floor.

On one occasion a little pack train of three mules brought to Dawson City $120,000 worth of gold in common sacks, over which the mule driver, acting on his own responsibility, fastened a bit of sailcloth, lest a mule falling on a rock or against a branch should accidentally rip open a sack and spill the contents. The whole lot was thrown with other goods into the packer's office and left there until the following morning.

At another time $40,000 worth was sent down on one horse. The packer in charge did not know who had given it to him and there was no sign of ownership attached. It was identified by the fact that within the larger sack of dust was a small sack of nuggets.

The bags are not sealed, but merely tied with a leather thong or a bit of twine.—Chicago Record-Herald.

RAINMAKING FALLACIES.

Nature's Processes Too Gigantic to Be Imitated by Man.

Warm air is like a sponge. It will suck up a lot of moisture and carry it without spilling any. But if warm air, well loaded with moisture, is suddenly cooled the sponge is squeezed and the moisture falls out as rain.

Many years ago some hopeful gentlemen went to one of our arid regions and exploded a lot of dynamite on the theory that the concussion would mix the strata of warm air near the earth with the cooler strata above and so cause the necessary precipitation of moisture. There happened to be light showers about the time of the experiments, which encouraged the experimenters, but didn't convince anybody else.

The fact is that nature's rainmaking machine is too gigantic to be affected by the puny efforts of humans—at least by any methods so far discovered.

Nature pumps the moisture laden air up into the cold regions of the upper atmosphere with a wheel a thousand miles in diameter. When this tremendous wheel of air is revolving normally it hoists millions of tons of water vapor to an elevation where it can no longer be carried in solution and so falls in rain.

When the wheel is off adjustment it is as futile to bombard the sky with dynamite as it would be to fire popgun corks at the side of the latest Dreadnought.—Kansas City Star.

Logger Burke Will Serve City.

Ed Burke, a logger from an out of town point, who got rid of some of his surplus strength by beating a fellow laborer in Pipe's pool hall night before last will have time to meditate over the uselessness of such procedure. The city will profit by his strength for the next 30 days. He was charged with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and of fighting the police officers. In the effort to put him under arrest Constable Faulk and Jno Waldon were compelled to use some very strenuous tactics. The man was under the influence of liquor at the time and was extremely boisterous.

Engine Troubles Delay.

No. 18 was delayed about 30 minutes last evening in the La Grande yards when engine No. 193 and engine No. 212 had trouble. The engineer on 212 had trouble halting his engine before it reached the main line from a side track and some little damage was done to 193 in the resultant crash.

Handicap Bout Won by Warner.

Baker, Nov. 5.—Ed Warner, formerly of La Grande, proved a hard nut for Ray Christensen in the wrestling contest at the Orpheum theatre last evening, the latter failing to carry out his contract to throw Warner twice in one hour, the former thereby being declared the winner. Christensen succeeded in pinning Warner to the mat but once in the 60 minutes, gaining one fall with a hammerlock in 26½ minutes. While Christensen was the aggressor the greater part of the time, Warner was on top at times and more than once had his heavier opponent in bad holes, which, however, were all broken. Warner wriggled out of many tight places and drew lots of applause for his clever work. The match was fast and hard fought throughout and gave the good sized crowd a good run for their money.
