Man Saves Train From Accident.

Pendleton, Jan. 13.—(Special)—But for the chance discovery of a broken rail a few minutes before No. 17 was due in this city, that passenger train might have met a serious accident this morning. G. F. Parker, owner of the taxicab service in this city, made the discovery and flagged the train before it reached the damaged piece of track.

The broken rail was right on the Court street crossing in the east end of the city and Mr. Parker discovered it as he was making a trip to the St. Anthony hospital a few minutes before No. 17 was due. The rail was broken a few feet from a joint and the end had been bent to that it stuck up in the air. Mr. Parker remained by it until the train arrived and stopped it with a signal.

By running very slowly the train was drawn over the damaged place and a delay of only a few minutes resulted. The rail has since been repaired. It is believed that rail was broken by a freight train which passed over it a short time before No. 17 arrived.

They lace In Front

Gossard Corsets adapt themselves perfectly to the present demands of fashion.

The change effected in the figure line when fitted to a Gossard corset will amaze you. Gossard corsets all have the long skirts and you cannot detect the lower line of boning—so carefully is it done. With the Gossard there are no lines, except the beautiful natural lines of the figure.

A complete line of models at from $3.50 to $8.50 always on hand.

UNION PLANS BIGGER SHOW

BIG EXPENDITURES MADE ON RACE TRACK.

Directors of Union Show Look For Best Event Ever In 1914.

M. S. Levy, of Union, is in the city on business. The executive officers of the Union stock show have just held a meeting and outlined the program for the big live stock show that is to be held there in June. During the course of the past fall the association has spent over a thousand dollars on the race track and made other improvements on the grounds, all of which will aid in making, as Mr. Levy says, the biggest and best show Union has ever had. Everybody is boosting the stock show already.

BRILLIANTS.

Did we not hate the necessary toll
Of slow correction and the painful file
Illustrious youths with just contempt receive,
Nor let the hardy poem hope to live
Where time and full correction don't refine,
The finished work and polish every line?
—From Horace's Art of Poetry.

Some of your griefs you have cured,
And the sharpest you still have survived;
But what torments of pain you've endured
From the evils that never arrived!
—French Proverb.

It fortifies my soul to know
That though I perish truth is so;
That how so'er I stray and range,
Whate'er I do thou dost not change.
I steadier step when I recall
That if I slip thou dost not fall.
—Arthur Hugh Clough.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY.

He hears but half who hears one party only.—Aeschylus.

Prejudice renders a man's virtue his habit and not a series of unconnected acts. Through just prejudice his duty becomes a part of his nature.—Burke.

He who is sorry for having sinned is almost innocent.—Seneca.

All persons as they become less prosperous are the more suspicious. They take everything for an effort and from their conscious weakness presume that they are neglected.—Terence.

All men are held and called tyrants who possess perpetual power in a state which once enjoyed freedom.—Nepos.

TO A MOUNTAIN DAISY.

Wee, modest, crimson tipped flower,
Thou'st met me in an evil hour,
For I maun crush among the stoure
Thy slender stem.
To spare thee now is past my power,
Thou bonny gem.

The flaunting flowers our gardens yield,
High sheltering woods and wa's maun shield;
But thou beneath the random field,
O' clod or stane,
Adorns the hittle stibble field,
Unseen, alane.

There, in thy scanty mantle clad,
Thy snawle bosom sunward spread,
Thou lifts thy unassuming head
In humble guise,
But now the share uprears thy bed
And low thou lies!
—Robert Burns.
