Information has been received that the wind blew off two thirds of the roof of the new high school building at Joseph last Sunday morning. The gale was the strongest any resident had experienced in this section of the country. Some other damage was done to property including barns, woodsheds and some old frame dwellings. There were no fatalities. Unless the roof is repaired on short notice the rains will do considerable damage to the building. It is understood plans have been laid to this end and work will begin at once.
