

NEW CLASSES ARE FORMED

RECENT ADDITIONS TO HIGH SCHOOL CARED FOR.

Student Publication Is Out Again and Editors Win Praise.

Quite a number of new classes have been organized this semester, some are the same classes, but on the completion of one study they are taking up one that follows it; as in the case of the U. S. history and economics classes, the former taking up Civics and the latter commercial or business law. Other classes are entirely new, such as agriculture, common English, penmanship, solid geometry, wood-turning, in which only the farthest advanced manual training students are members. A beginners' class in shorthand, which is now reading Hawthorne's "The Great Stone Face" and a boys' domestic science class in which a short course in camp cooking is given. Also beginners' classes in algebra, English, history and Latin have been started for the benefit of those who entered school from the grades a short time ago and those freshmen who are required to take subjects in which they failed, over again.

There has been quite a number of changes and additions to the high school roll call so far this semester. Among those leaving school are, Elmer Horstman, senior and president of the Gama Sigma Alpha club, who left to take a position in the office of the O. W. R. & N., and Ora Wilcox, sophomore, who has returned to her home in Idaho. Those who have entered are, Fern and Irma Geddes, new commercial students, and eight eighth grade graduates, Minnie Moore, Eva Ruby, Romo Jacobsen, Herbert Hopkins, Herschel Horstman, Phillip Heidenrich, Claude Wright, Eugene Moore, Kenneth Keeney, and Adolph Group are from the Central building; Lee Bradway, Ruth Courtney, Marjorie Kline, Helen Snook, Eva Stoddard, and Kenneth Williamson, coming from Riveria, and Claud Wright from Fruitdale.

Number 2, Volume I, of the "Student Life" was issued this week. The editor and her staff certainly deserve credit for the excellent appearance of that paper.

Myrton Westerling, who has been absent for some time, returned to school Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Ivanhoe, county superintendent of schools, visited the high school Thursday.

New laboratory manuals have been ordered for the class in chemistry. The class is now taking up the study of that extensive subject, carbon.

The Gama Sigma Alpha, a club of shorthand students, was entertained by Frank Clark Thursday evening. Several of the manual training students are making cones, cubes, oblongs, cylinders, etc., for models to be used in the drawing classes, under the art teacher, Miss Bonner.

LAKESIDE ROAD CERTAIN

WEST SIDE OF LAKE MAY YET HAVE ROAD.

Joseph Believes Road Will Be An Immense Attraction to City.

The proposed new road on the west side of Wallowa Lake, allowed by the county court last year, has been knocked out by the circuit court, says the Joseph Herald. This decision was made principally upon the ground that the notice was not posted as long as the law requires. This defect will be remedied and another effort made to put this much-needed road through next summer. This road will prove a great benefit to everyone residing in this portion of the county, as well as to the hundreds of tourists from all over Eastern Oregon who visit our famous summer resort—Wallowa Lake Park—every summer. The decision of the county court was appealed to the circuit court by owners of land along the proposed route, who claimed that they were entitled to more damages than named by the viewers.

McALISTER FUNERAL SUNDAY

Body to Arrive From Riverside This Evening—Funeral Plans Out.

Funeral arrangements for interment of the late Mrs. D. A. McAlister who died at Riverside, California, this week, have been completed. The body will arrive in the city this evening in charge of the husband and daughter, Mrs. Moss, and on Sunday the body will be laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery, after services at the Baptist church. The church services are set for 2 o'clock.

CHANCES ARE ABOUT 5000 TO 50.

When you are quietly sitting near your heater reading the doings of the day in La Grande and the world at large about 5000 persons in this city and in the valley are doing the same. Somebody has lost an article, or may want something, or has something to sell. The simplest way to reach so many persons is to insert a little want ad in the Observer and you will be talking to about 5000 persons at the same time. Could you possibly see more than 50 of these persons in one day? It is not likely. The busy man lets others do the talking and conserves his energy for the transaction. A paper never gets out of breath, never loses energy and always puts the proposition in a few lines. If your time is worth money you can't save it more easily than by a want ad. Trying is believing. The Observer is willing to prove it.

VUO VADIS MAGNIFICENT

The first night of Quo Vadis is past history in La Grande.

If there was a bigger and more magnificent picture in the Arcade photo playhouse, we don't know which it was. For scenery and general grandeur it has anything bested that we know of, or could expect, and when we make this assertion we are conscious of the fact that every man, woman and child in the Arcade last night will agree with us. If the student of history has not a good idea of the time of the butcher Nero after witnessing this picture, he never will get it.

The acting of the Italians in this great drama, and the scenery of the Eternal city is so superb that one is involuntarily transported to the times when Rome was the center of all that was corrupt on the one hand, and all that was good and holy, on the other. The scene in the amphitheatre showing a loud, unthinking class of men and women whom nothing could excite but the most extraordinary, wild lions marching upon praying Christians whom they threatened to devour, a mad bull rushing into the arena with a woman tied to his back, and a giant slave rushing into the arena to conquer it, an exciting chariot race—and by the way, a real race—help to make this one scene in particular many times worth the price of admission. The whole drama abounds in scenes that are superb. To describe it well one would have to devote many columns to it. It will appear here tonight for the last time and we are told it will never appear here again.

Ethics Not Violated.

Chauncey E. Bunting wishes it announced through the columns of the Observer that the article published in Wednesday night's paper, relative to his being recently elected a member of the American Institute of Architects, was published without his knowledge or consent. He does not wish it to be thought that he had the architectural business of La Grande cornered during the past season, and expressly desires that work done or performed by other architects be properly credited to them.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned wish to thank the many neighbors and friends for their kind assistance and sympathy during the illness and death of their granddaughter, Melva Dooley, who died last Wednesday. They wish especially thank the school children of the North Side school for the beautiful wreath of flowers for the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Dooley.
