Something

Makes Barrington Hall

Coffee Different!

What is It?

All Coffees look pretty much alike. Yet you know all Coffees are not alike in flavor and quality.

What Makes the Difference?

Simply the blending of the very best Coffee beans and the Bakerizing process which Barrington Hall Coffee goes through. Bakerized Coffee is cut with steel knives (not ground) like ordinary Coffee, and the useless husks or chaff and dust is all blown out.

The price of Barrington Hall Coffee is 45c a pound, (less than three-fourth cents a cup) as each pound makes from 60 to 70 cups.

We shall be pleased to show you how this coffee is different if you will call at our store.
