PENDLETON 5 WINS CONTEST

LA GRANDE'S FIRST DEFEAT SUFFERED THIS YEAR.

Long-range Firing By Visitors Keeps That Team In the Lead.

Pendleton hung defeat No. 1 on the La Grande high last night, when she won over the locals 31 to 25 in by far the fastest, most ferocious and whirlwindy game of the year. Pendleton took the lead early in the game, and though La Grande had the visitors tied up at times, and for a few minutes were a few points in the lead, that condition did not last long, and the visitors increased the margin by two baskets at the last gong. The contest was hair-raising, and the organized rooters of the high school had ample opportunity to swell their chests.

Pendleton used a method of attack that was diametrically opposite to that of La Grande's, and furthermore, broke up La Grande's style of play by massing her players under the La Grande goal, where through sheer numbers, they were able to guard closely. The game made a victory each for the teams this season and was La Grande's first awry score.

La Grande connected for only four points out of 13 fouls called on Pendleton, and of course lost their chance to win through that fact. La Grande suffered nine fouls and of these Pendleton made five register as scores. Peters of Pendleton, rang up the highest number of points for the visitors and about half of them were eyelash affairs, but it was Straughn, Selberts, Fowler and Russell that did the connecting with the greatest degree of sensationalism. It was these long heaves from anywhere on the floor that largely won for Pendleton. The La Grande team plays a close-in fighting game, and was caught napping when Pendleton players were in the middle of the floor. But the homers finally stopped much of the moping from far off and it evolved upon Peters to ring the bell. He is a player of the type which has made Pendleton famous in the past. La Grande's attack is the short throw route and Pendleton broke up this style of massing her players under the La Grande basket, smothering down the forwards at every twist.

Rosenbaum was a veritable demon at floor work and his shrilly physique was amply sufficient to cope with the larger Pendletonians in the rough and tumble speed of the game. He drove at top speed all the way. But so did the others—Carpy, Schofield, Bean, Procter, Oliver and Stoddard, sent in in the second half in an attempt to turn the tide.

La Grande forwards managed to slip away occasionally to get a straight shoot at the basket but at the last moments, when they had a chance to win or tie, Schofield and Stoddard struck a streak of hard luck, throw after throw prancing weirdly around the rim, only to roll out and be lost.

The score was:

*One point awarded. Referee, Larson.

Larson had his hands full with the scrappy players. Certain minor classes of fouls he let go on both sides fairly. The bullet-like passing of both teams kept the official up on his toes from the start.

SPORT GOSSIP.

Experience has taught Eastern Oregon and Washington baseball fans considerably. L. M. Brown, formerly secretary of the Western Tri-State league is no wthe whole thing—president, secretary and treasurer. This move is bound to bring better results. The centralization of authority in one man follows the plan outlined at the last meeting of the directors, for the purpose of keeping down expenses, and facilitating business.

A board of arbitration consisting of one citizen of each of the four towns in which clubs are located will hold a check over the official and settle matters of dispute between clubs. Mr. Brown, who was secretary of the league last year and who recently resigned as secretary of the Walla Walla Commercial club, will devote his entire time to the league this season.

The directors have been drafting a schedule that would keep traveling expenses to the minimum. According to the schedule adopted, the season will open April 7 and close July 26, thus giving 16 weeks of baseball. Each club will have eight weeks at home and eight on the road.

The season will open in Walla Walla and Pendleton and will close in Baker and North Yakima. Baker will open in Pendleton, while North Yakima will start in Walla Walla. Pendleton will close in North Yakima and Walla Walla in Baker.

Harold Clifford will probably manage the Baker team in the Western Tri-State, but the Baker club is not quite sure of itself just yet.

It is high time this organization business a la brush came to a point in Union and Wallowa counties. The sooner started, the sooner interest will begin to boil.

Oh! Union! What's the matter with you? Why don't you play us and settle the Eastern Oregon championship to a queen's taste? (Echoes around La Grande campus.)

Oh! La Grande! etc. (Echoes heard at Union campus.)
