phone receiver to the dog's ear. At first Togo could not, with his inexperience, grasp the meaning of this altogether singular procedure, but when he heard what seemed to be a familiar voice he was all attention. Mrs. Clark spoke to the dog over the phone, pronounced his name and told Togo to come home. Togo made one leap for the door and as soon as it was opened ran with all his speed to the Clark home and arrived there in a few minutes. The experience has been repeated. Recently Mr. Clark phoned the dog, spoke with him over the line and told him that he was in the garage. Togo left the office and went directly to the garage where Mr. Clark was repairing the machine. Togo knows more than that, according to a statement of Mr. Clark. He will not go into the house when he comes home with muddy paws, but scampers off to the basement where he goes through some kind of maneuvers to remove the mud from his feet. If his efforts at scratching and rubbing are not quite successful he will, like the conscience-stricken little boy, back into the house and then hug the wall, the uncarpeted part of the floor, to avoid drawing censure from his mistress. Mr. and Mrs. Clark would not part with this intelligent dog at any price. He is not for sale, and the story is told merely for the sake of general information.

To the Housewife.

Madam, if your husband is like most men he expects you to look after the health of yourself and children. Coughs and colds are the most common of the minor ailments and are most likely to lead to serious disease. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when it has a cold. If you will inquire into the merits of the various remedies that are recommended for coughs and colds, you will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy stands high in the estimation of people who use it. It is prompt and effectual, pleasant and safe to take, which are qualities especially to be desired when a medicine is intended for children. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.
