The public library will be formally opened Monday evening, March 16. Mr. Carnegie has built the splendid structure and now that the tax payers are to maintain it, each and every one will deem it a privilege to look over the building on that evening and see what the needs might be. A splendid program has been prepared. "Keep the date in mind and come and see what has been done and what you think is yet to be done to make the library fitted to meet the demands of our growing city," said a member of the library commission today. The program for the formal opening of the library will begin at eight o'clock as possible. It is well known that Mr. Carnegie has built the structure and that the entire community has access to it. The committee in charge has taken great pains to provide the best talent along the different lines mentioned that the city affords, to make the evening both entertaining and profitable. The program follows:

Invention—Rev. W. C. Drahn.

Our library—Vice President Mr. G. T. Cochran.

Relation of the city to the library—Mr. Laffey.

Relation of the Neighborhood club to the library—Mrs. Vincent Palmer.

Relation of the public schools to the library—Mr. John Girdler.

I. D. S. Quartet.

In the realm of books—Mrs. Stella Isola.

The needs of the library—Miss Noell.

Next Tuesday afternoon the 17th, the Neighborhood club will meet for the first time in its new room in the public library building. The ladies have spent between three and four hundred dollars in furnishing this room and they expect to thoroughly enjoy their new home. At the last meeting a vote of thanks was enthusiastically given the Commercial club for their kindness and generosity in giving the club the use of their rooms for so many years, both in their present quarters and in the ones they formerly occupied. The Neighborhood club feels that it is entering on a new era, with an enlarged membership and its new club room so centrally located, and new fields of work presenting themselves almost every meeting. It hopes to secure many new members the coming year, if possible, double its membership. The regular program for next Tuesday afternoon has been postponed and opening day will be observed as social day and each member is allowed to invite a guest. Part of the afternoon's entertainment will consist of Tennessee's Dream of Fair Women, given in the usual way with reading and tableaux. The committee in charge is Mrs. Geo. Palmer, Mrs. Fred Holmes, Mrs. E. E. Bragg, Mrs. A. Hunter, Mrs. Frank Lilly and Mrs. E. Selzer, and these ladies are a sufficient guarantee for a delightful afternoon.

Informal dancing entertained about a dozen couples at Homan hall Thursday evening. The affair was impromptu, but will probably lead to a series of dances by the same or similar crowds during the spring months.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames Claude Mackey, Lloyd Scriber, Jay Van Buren, H. M. Bay, Archie Bacon, Frank Bay, A. W. Nelson; Messrs. Ramsey, Williamson, Huron, Francis, Bay and Freeman, and Misses Marjorie McCall, Irene Murphy and Mary Pennington.

Those present were: Mesdames Anthony, Berger, McClavie, Tatum, Whitely, Haisten, Ellis, Tanner, Morris, and special guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Hageman, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Berger.

Mrs. Jerry Enck, who has been in Portland for a month visiting with friends, is back in the city. She enjoyed the rest and visit, but came back with a "How-do-you-do?" glad to get back expression, as much as to say "There's no place like the old Grande Enck and the Blue Mountains that surround."

Members of the Eastern Star social club were entertained Tuesday afternoon at Masonic hall by Mrs. F. M.

The South La Grande Neighborhood club met at the home of Mrs. King Rowe Friday afternoon. The attendance was very large. New styles and new stitches in sewing were among the topics for discussion. Refreshments were served.

Representing the latest that science has contributed to refrigeration, and being the only one in the state of Oregon, and the second in the northwest, an automatic cooler has been installed in the Ulrich Lotter saloon. The machine is electrically operated, but is automatic and the mechanism is so sensitive that a variation of a half degree of temperature in the cooler where a carload of draft beer is stored, starts or stops the ammonia pumps. The plant is of a ton and a half capacity, but because every department of the saloon is cooled by pipes there is little demand for ice. Five cases of ice can be manufactured in 24 hours and this will far more than supply the for mixing drinks. The engine, ammonia tank, water supply and all the equipment is in the basement, adding a specially made cooler. Nearly $400 worth of work was used to make the cooler heat proof. In so many ways is the plant automatic that the machine is a marvel. Except to oil the parts monthly, no human being need go near the plant, yet the temperature in the cooler will not vary one-half degree from 39 without the pumps being started or stopped as the case may be. When the temperature is correct, the machine stops. The water used for the system comes from a well in the basement but should it run dry, the city water supply will be connected within 10 seconds automatically. City water is used in the ice plant alone, always. All the boxes and cooling shelves in the saloon proper are kept at required temperatures at all times by the coils, and makes of the equipment the best that science can do. The Baker City Packing Co. is to have one of these plants installed within the next 30 days, but at present Mr. Lotter has the only plant of this kind in Oregon. W. W.

LOS ANGELES SUFFERED MUCH

Wallowa People Returning from there Say Harve; Was Serious.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Templeton of Wallowa, returned last night from San Jose and other California points where they have been spending the winter. Mr. Templeton is lured back by the reports of the fine weather prevailing in this county and the somewhat disagreeable experiences in Los Angeles and in neighboring cities. During his stay there he intended to visit a week with a sister whose home is in Los Angeles, but while there the high water prevented him from leaving and he was compelled to remain in Los Angeles a month or more. His description of the havoc wrought by the high water and the floods is graphic and means that Los Angeles and vicinity will be some time in recovering from the ruin which followed in the train of these floods. Many of the finest orange groves were completely destroyed and it was not an uncommon sight to see trees laden with yellow oranges floating down the river or lodged up against a house.

Both are glad to get back to the Switzerland of America and will not soon leave again, with such delightful weather to hold them here.
