Monday evening's formal opening of Carnegie Library, was one of the week's principal society events. It must be said that there has been considerable stir in a social way, Lent notwithstanding, this week. The Monday evening affair drew out a large number of people, many of whom had not been inside the library before. Libations were served to the guests, and in every way it was a social function of much importance.

Fully a hundred and fifty ladies were present to enjoy the delightful program prepared by the social committee of the Neighborhood club last Tuesday afternoon at the opening of the new club room in the library building. Beautiful vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Lockwood. Mrs. Stella Ingal read Tennyson's "Dream of Fair Women." to piano accompaniment, by Miss Stella Oliver, her musical voice adding beauty to the words of the poem.

The different characters were well taken, the ladies' posing giving beauty and grace to the pictures.

The characters were as follows:
Helen of Troy..... Mrs. Lilly Iphigenia..... Mrs. A. Hunter Cleopatra..... Mrs. M. K. Hall Jephthah's Daughter..... Mrs. Linebaugh Rosamond..... Mrs. Bruce Dennis Queen Eleanor..... Mrs. J. Girdler Sir Thomas Moor's Daughter.....

Miss Kiddle Joan of Arc..... Mrs. H. T. Love Queen Elinor..... Mrs. C. M. Lockwood Punch and wafers were served at the close of the program and a social hour enjoyed by all present.

The final event of the membership contest of the Epworth league of the Methodist church was held in the basement of the church at 8:30 p. m. March 17, the losing side giving a banquet to the winners. One hundred were seated.

Fred J. Taylor, second vice-president of the local league, acted as toastmaster. Out of town speakers were Rev. Beatty of Island City, who gave an address on "The Supreme Effort," dealing with the work of the past in the Epworth league as an organization; Rev. Edwards, of Baker, who gave many excellent thoughts under the heading, "The Glory of the Conquered," touching upon the daily life of the Epworth league member. Mr. John H. Rudd, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., spoke on the subject, "What the League is Doing," showing the work of the various departments of the league work at home.

The work of the league is now in flourishing condition, having the record membership of the La Grande district, of 96 resident members and the Sunday evening meeting with an attendance of 100 or more, and each department having its own special work to do.

Elma Bay and Margaret Zwiemel are not twins, but they were both born six years ago last Wednesday and to fittingly commemorate the event their mothers, Mrs. Frank Bay and Mrs. Nathan Zwiemel invited in a score of little youngsters to make the day well remembered. The little folks were entertained at the Zwiemel home on East Adams and the home was decorated in St. Patrick's colors. Refreshments that touched the spot for the little folks were served by the six-year-old hostesses. The boys and girls who came to help Margaret and Elma celebrate were: Vie Crawford, Margaret Baker, Retta Harlan, Frankie Tatman, Paul Bull, Phillip Walnum, Lawrence Bay, Lois Nelson, Dorothy Johnson, Freda Zwiemel, Marvin Mackey, "Tubby" Zundell, Geo. Baker and Clara Baker.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, met with Mrs. C. S. Allen on Alder street, this week. A large attendance was present and the afternoon was profitable.

The South La Grande Neighborhood club had a day at its weekly meeting when the members were taken to the Joe Clark ranch home for dinner, and later in the day were served ice cream and cake. Mr. Montgomery hauled the society to the Clark home, and took them back. Needless to say, they were highly entertained at the all-day session. Special guests were Mrs. Geo. Grout, Mrs. Redhead and Mrs. Kenyon.

Mrs. Frank Baker and daughter Lillian entertained the members of the Aid society and ladies of the congregation of the Presbyterian church, on Wednesday at their commodious home on Spring street. After a pleasant hour with fancy work and conversation a short, but delightful program was listened to which consisted of instrumental music by Miss Stella Oliver, Mrs. Robinson, and Mrs. Love, a vocal solo by Mrs. Silverthorn and a humorous reading by Mrs. A. T. Hill. The afternoon closed with the serving of most delicious refreshments. About sixty ladies were present for this most pleasant afternoon.

In compliment to Mrs. F. A. Elliot, of Salem, who has been her guest this week, Mrs. A. T. Hill gave an informal tea this afternoon. A few neighbors and friends were invited in for the afternoon to meet Mrs. Elliot. Mrs. Elliot is the wife of the state forest chief, F. A. Elliot, of Salem, and he will arrive tomorrow to join his wife and spend a few days here visiting his friends.

Even though still in March, society is shifting from cozy parlors to afternoon affairs at the city park. Yesterday afternoon, the division of the Tillicums—a girls' society of the high school in four divisions—headed by Miss Leona Newlin, entertained all the girls of the high school at a frankfurter roast at the park. The hostesses and guests went to the park immediately after school was out and late in the afternoon built bonfires and roasted weinies.

Imogen Harding Brodie, a vocalist of Portland, under whom several of La Grande singers of prominence have studied, is coming to La Grande April 16, to render a recital in the Methodist church. The Methodist choir is looking after the details, and expects much of the recital, for Mrs. Brodie is well known throughout the state as one of the most skilled and gifted singers of Oregon.

Engagement of Elmer Stoddard, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stoddard, of this city, and Miss Florence McAllister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McAllister, of Logan, Utah, has been announced. The marriage ceremony will be performed some time late in April. Miss McAllister was a La Grande guest last summer and in the brief stay here, many became pleasantly acquainted with her.

Miss Ethel Rieth, who, during the past year or more, has been prominent in society circles among the younger set, has gone to Portland. She was forced to resign her position in the law office of Cochran & Eberhard on account of failing health and is now connected with the law department of the O.-W. at Portland where climatic conditions are more propitious to her health.

Mrs. W. R. Jones entertained the Bridge club Thursday afternoon and the event was characterized by special effort toward making it "out of the ordinary." Elaborate refreshments were served. Honors at cards went to Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp. St. Patrick day color schemes were carried out with fine effect.

The Pinochle club helped Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sigrist celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary Tuesday evening, St. Patrick's day. Guests left wooden remembrances commemorating the wooden anniversary. At pinochle, Mrs. A. W. Nelson won high score.

Prizes are to be offered next Tuesday night at Rex hall for the most graceful exambification of the three step, one of the artistic dances that has been popular for many years. Two prizes are to be awarded, for first and second best couples.

Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. C. T. Bacon will entertain the Social club of the Eastern Star at the lodge rooms next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thiesen entertained the Sans Souci club at its regular bi-monthly meeting this week. Honors at cards went to R. W. Logan for the gentlemen, and Mrs. D. M. Clark for the ladies.

Mrs. Geo. Cochran was hostess to the afternoon section of the Kaffe Klatch Friday afternoon. The next afternoon meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jay Van Buren.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dunn will entertain the Sans Souci club two weeks hence.

A musical and a comedy farce is to be given in the high school auditorium March 27. The musical is to be a portrayal of high school student body musical ability and Miss Buchanan, the musical instructor, has been drilling the parts diligently. The music portion of the program will consist of high school choruses, girls' and boys' trios, double quartette glee club numbers and solos. It promises to be the biggest musical production that any high school student body has yet attempted. Following the musical numbers comes a farce called "Billy's Chorus Girl," featuring a half-dozen girls and boys.
