BIG STUNTS ON TONIGHT

GLEE CLUB HAVE LAST REHEARSAL

Show of Songs And Stunts Tonight Will Be Big Affair.

Final rehearsal for the high school glee club entertainment was held last night and the songs and stunts went off in a manner that indicates a banner performance tonight.

In the "Swat the Fly" stunt the club endeavors to demonstrate the value of the war on flies now going on over the country and at the same time show the swiftness with which the fly spreads disease, especially among infants.

The "Has Anybody Here Seen Rover," stunt has in it some excellents suggestions for the city pound master. Melvin Larson is the shining star in this act.

At a school assembly yesterday afternoon the much dreaded "stage fright" canker was painfully removed and, with this over, there is no reason why the boys should not, as they advertise, furnish two hours of pleasure to their patrons tonight.

Program follows: School Song Maris Club.

Bendemeer's Stream Moore Quartette (Shaw, Carpy, Russell, Winters.)
