Wallowa, April 21, (Special)—Mr. J. P. Eggan has purchased a lot of Edna Williams just south of the millinery store. Mr. Eggan is erecting a photo gallery in which he expects to start his photography business soon. Mr. Eggan owns the ranch previously owned by Mr. Stockwell and he expects to be a permanent resident of this vicinity.

Friday being the last day of school in the Dry Creek district the event was celebrated by a basket social Saturday evening. Several people of this city attended and a splendid evening was spent.

Charles Zurcher, candidate for county clerk, was in the city looking after business interests the fore part of the week.

Rev. I. B. Self, formerly of Lostine, is now preaching in the Presbyterian church. The position was formerly held by Rev. Shimian who was sent to Coos county, Ore. The vacancy left by Rev. Self at Lostine was filled by Rev. Schmidt, formerly of Elgin. Sheriff Marvin came down from Enterprise Sunday to attend to business matters. He also remained for the game between Enterprise and Wallowa.

Geo. Rodgers and Rev. Self returned Friday from Sumpter, where they were attending a meeting of the Presbyter.

A. G. Wigglesworth, formerly of this city, has returned and is expecting to make a stay of a month or more.

Rev. Powell of Cove spent a day or two in Wallowa recently. C. J. Smith, candidate for Governor on the Democratic ticket was in the city Monday night and made an address in the Odd Fellow's hall.

CHILDREN'S DISEASES VERY PREVALENT.

Whooping cough is about everywhere. Measles and scarlet fever are almost as bad. At the onset the symptoms are very similar, feverishness and signs of a cold being in evidence. For the raw inflamed throat and mucous membrane, and for coughing, use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It is soothing and healing to inflamed surfaces and the bronchial tubes. Mrs. I. C. Hostler, Grand Island, Nebr., says: "My three children had very severe attacks of whooping cough and suffered intensely, and a very few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar gave them great relief." For measles cough, and the inflamed throat of scarlet fever, for croup, bronchial and la grippe coughs, for tickling throat and hoarseness it always gives grateful relief. It contains no opiates and is a pure medicine. That is why it suits particular people. In 25c, 50c, and $1.00 sizes. Do not accept a substitute. For sale by Hill's Drug Store.—Adv.

SENSES OF PLANTS.

A Theory That Flowers See and Hear and May Even Talk.

Jean Vlaud-Bruant, who is one of the most famous French horticulturists, has just published a little book on flowers, in which he advances the theory (I believe it is not entirely novel) that flowers both see and hear. As a young man, he says, he began to study flowers, for which he has always had a passion, and he sought to understand the habits of the blooms which he cultivated. When he saw the growing plant reach out toward the necessary support he asked himself whether the action was the result of volition and whether the plant had eyes.

M. Vlaud-Bruant is now apparently convinced that flowers both hear and see. There are some that are sensitive to anaesthetic substances, ether in particular, which suggests the existence of a nervous system, like that of a nervous woman. And he would even credit them with something analogous to the power of speech.

"One knows," he writes, "that the perfume of flowers is a manifestation of vegetable life, a living radiation. Perfume is as much a vibration as an olfactory sensation. The perfume is the voice of the flower. A bouquet is a wordless romance. Each perfume or, rather, each odorous sensation corresponds with a certain rate of vibration. There is an analogy between the perceptions of sound, light and scent. The strong scent corresponds with the deep notes, while the delicate odors correspond with the shrill notes."—Paris Cor. Cincinnati Enquirer.

Made a Bad Break.

"I think I must have made a bad break last Sunday," mused the fellow who seldom goes to church.

"You see, I got an annual catalogue of my old school, and in looking through it I found that one of my classmates was the pastor of a Cleveland church. So I called him up, and he said that he was still preaching and that if I wanted to meet him I should come to church on the following Sunday morning, which I did.

"He introduced me to his wife, and she took me into the pew with her. Well, during the sermon I got very drowsy. I was nodding in the middle of the sermon, and the parson's wife touched me on the elbow.

"You seem sleepy," she whispered. "Try some of my smelling salts."

"No; thank you," says I; "I'd rather sleep!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Knew a Whole Lot.

A youthful and blushing bride reduced the aged grandmother of the man of her choice to a state of collapse last week, says the Sydney Bulletin. When asked if she could cook, she replied with simple modesty, "Not very well, but I know that you bake inside the stove and boil on the outside."

Above Ancestry.

It is fortunate to be of noble ancestry. It is more so to be such that people do not care to be informed whether you are noble or ignoble.—La Bruyere
