

The Government protects your money in this bank

NATIONAL BANKS Are Under the direct supervision of the Government. They are inspected frequently and are compelled to make a public statement of their resources five times a year. A certain sum must be carried in reserve against liabilities. Other rigorous rules have to be adhered to.

National banks are subject to more laws than any other class of banks in the world. They are therefore the safest financial institutions existing—all their depositors being under the direct protection of the U. S. Government.

Accounts in this National bank are solicited from firms and individuals. Every assistance given depositors—consistent with Government rules.

LADD VANYON INDICATES PROSPERITY.

Fishermen Flock to Ladd Creek—Social Affairs on the Lull.

Ladd Canyon, Oregon, April 23.—(Special)—Although the April showers are occasionally accompanied by cold breeze from the west, it seems to be fine growing weather, nevertheless, as the newly-sown grain fields and gardens and the meadows and hill pastures appear to be springing up wonderfully. Farmers have taken nearly all their stock to the mountains for the summer, some time ago and they are doing fine.

It is pretty hard lately to obtain very much news for the paper, supposedly on account of every one being too busy with spring work to go or entertain very often. But then that is a pretty good indication of a prosperous neighborhood, as every one knows who is familiar with Ladd Canyon.

Many people were fishing in Ladd Creek Sunday and there was quite a good many automobiles going through to Hot Lake.

Only those who have ever attended a party given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mattson know how very delightfully they can entertain. They were host and hostess to about a dozen couples last Saturday evening whom they had invited in to participate in a dancing party, and a very nice lap supper was served at twelve o'clock. Those who made the evening merry were Mr. and Mrs. Alec Furgason, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Peebler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grandy, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Drumsmith, Mr. and Mrs. Tomas Bates, Miss Dora Geiger, Lawrence Spencer, Miss Irene Mulholland, Jack Walker, Miss Mabel Bates, Mr. Peterson of La Grande, Mrs. Wright of Tacoma, Wash., Edward Doolittle, Bert Ravenscroft of La Grande and Joe and Keith Bates.

Eugene Banton has gone to Pocatello, where he will remain with his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Banton, on their farm until they return to their respective home in La Grande, which will be some time in the near future.

Mrs. Marie Larm has returned home after a two weeks stay in La Grande, with her daughter, Mrs. Belle Huntley. Although she was quite sick part of the time she was there, she had a very good visit. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Evanson, who is here from Grant's Pass, visiting relatives.

Mrs. Eula Dougherty and baby daughter, Dorothy, has been here from Enterprise visiting the last two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Peebler, Miss Frankie Peebler, Maurice Fulton of La Grande drove out and took dinner with them Sunday.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership. Notice is hereby given that the partnership of Upton & Graham, consisting of Dr. C. H. Upton and Dr. J. P. Graham, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. The practice will be continued under the name of C. H. Upton, who has assumed all liabilities of the partnership and will collect all accounts due to said firm.

Dated at La Grande, Oregon, this 18th day of April, 1914.

No Friend of the Militants.

London has been having a good laugh over a recent incident in which Mrs. Asquith, wife of the premier, figured, and the story has been enjoyed all the more since for once the lady's ready wit failed her in an emergency and she remained dazed and mute instead of hurling forth one of her bright retorts.

Mrs. Asquith, so it is stated, was returning the other day from a shopping expedition and hailed a taxi. Getting in, she gave the order—"Ten Downing street."

But the taxi driver had taken woman fares to the premier's office in Downing street before, and there had been brickbats for the windows and trouble for him. So instead of lowering the flag he came down from his seat, opened the door and remarked brusquely: "Come out of it. Downing street? Not if I know it! You'll have to get some one else for this little job, young woman!" And out she went.

"At Random Sent." I shot an arrow from the bow. I had no target handy, so I fired into the air, and, oh, I hit a timid passing bird! That arrow was an idle word of censure and was overheard by one for whom 'twas never meant. Ah, me, the cruel shaft I sent Without the least unkind intent! And all the wealth of land and main Can never bring it back again.

—Cora M. W. Greenleaf.

A Gentle Reproof.

The governor of a New England state was one time fishing in the streams of the Adirondacks when he encountered a handsome setter dog, which insisted on following him from camp to camp.

Later he met a party of men working upstream with a native guide. The guide immediately recognized his dog.

"Ha, trying to steal my dog, you?" he shouted at the governor. "I'll have you in jail for this. There's a law in the woods just as big as you have in the city."

The governor endeavored to explain that he was an unwilling companion to the dog, which had persisted in following him, but to little or no effect, until he had a crisp greenback to add him in his arguments.

"It's queer what strange things happen to a man up here," he remarked to the stage driver who later carried him away from the woods. "That is the first time I was ever accused of stealing a dog."

"Yes, sir," replied the driver sympathetically. Then, after a moment's thoughtful silence, he continued, "As for me, sir, I have never been accused of stealing anything."—Lippincott's.

A Soldier's Joke.

When a certain distinguished general was in old days military secretary at Malta he was sent during a government house function to ask a young lady to repeat a skirt dance which had met with much appreciation. The fair dancer, who was somewhat affected, protested that she positively couldn't and that if she did she would be completely "blown." The officer returned to the governor looking rather sheepish, and hesitated as if there was something he did not like to say. "Well?" asked the great man. "She won't," replied the other. "Won't? Why?" "I don't know," was the reply, "but she said she'd be blown if she would!"
