E. J. A. E. and C. J. Morris, the latter of Boise, and the former two of this city, are going to take over the ice cream and candy stand in the Newlin Drug store for the summer and make this an important part of the business. They announce that they will make their own candy and ice cream, and that they will cater largely to parties and picnic trips, etc. They are now conducting a candy making establishment in the city and hope to make this a first class industry. The Boise brother of the firm is a practical candy maker, having served his apprenticeship in a large candy factory of Boise where he learned the intricacies of the making of the candy. In a statement this morning, E. J. Morris who is now connected with the dispensing department of the Newlin Store, asserts that they would strive to get the highest rating in the state for cleanliness and proficiency, as well as good ingredients of which they intend to make their products.—Adv.
