

Specify - Electric - Lights -For Your New Home-

If you are building this year specify electric lights. It is safe to say that 90 per cent of the houses built in La Grande this year will install them. No home is modern without them. They are as important as sanitary plumbing.

Good lights are equally important, however, if you happen to live in a rented house. Your landlord owes it to you, and you owe it to yourself to have nothing but the best light. Electric lights are easily installed and will prove a source of lasting satisfaction to you. Call or phone Main 34.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

HOG RAISING IS PROFITABLE

RIGHT AND WRONG METHODS POINTED OUT BY EXPERT.

Treatise of Cholera Among Swine Forms Part of Interesting Article.

(By Prof. Thomas Shaw.)

In the Northwestern states the ranchmen are giving much attention to the introduction of swine. This is true of all the Northwestern states, particularly the Western Dakotas, Montana, Washington Oregon. This move is certainly a step in the right direction. Pork at $8.00, per hundred live weight is certainly better than wheat at 70 cents per bushel. But there is a right and a wrong way of going into pork raising. Persons who are not familiar with the business are pretty certain to take the wrong way. At least they are quite as apt to take the wrong methods as the method that is judicious and right.

What is meant by the wrong method? It means first, that farmers are generally of the opinion that they must purchase high bred sows or sows that are purely bred, and it means second, that foundation stocks may be brought in that will bring hog cholera with them. The lack of information on these two points is going to cost the ranchmen dearly in all the Northwestern states.

When choosing foundation sows, it is not essential that they shall be purely bred or even highly graded, unless the ranchman is going to produce pure bred swine for breeding. It does not matter how mixed the breeding. But it does matter that the sows shall have good conformation. Good conformation means a long body and enough of length of limb to make the sows active as grazers during the season of grazing. It does not matter much what the blood components are, providing the conformation is as stated above. Mixed blood elements are advantageous, rather than prejudicial, for the reason that the more mixed the blood elements on the side of the dam, the more rapid will be the improvement when such dams are mated with pure bred sires of any breed. This is a lesson that it is to be feared not many ranchmen have learned and it is a lesson which they are slow to learn. The idea is almost universal that the breeder must begin with high grade sows. As a rule he will succeed later with low grade sows, because of the less cost. But he must give attention to the selection of long bodied sows. This will insure the production of relatively large litters and of good bacon production in the progeny.

It should be remembered that with sows of mixed breeding improvement comes chiefly from the sire if purely bred. The more mixed the breeding of the dam, the more surely will the progeny resemble the sire. As markets of the future will give the preference to a sire of the bacon breeds, as the Yorkshires or the Tanworth.

It is peculiarly unfortunate that hog cholera should be brought into the Northwestern states. It might have been kept out of these. It was not there originally but it has been brought there. Hog cholera is already in the Judith Basin. It is in other portions of the Northwest. It is there because it has been brought there. There was no necessity for bringing it. Due precaution would have kept it out, but evidently due precaution was not exercised or it would not have been introduced. It will not avail to say that the climate of those states is so pure that it will not nurse hog cholera. It is no more pure than the climate of Great Britain and yet hog cholera is plentiful there. Hog cholera is a germ disease. It will come into any country into which the germs are carried, and it will flourish there howsoever pure the climate may be.

When swine, therefore, are brought into any part of the Northwest, let those who bring them make absolutely sure that they carry them in properly disinfected cars. These two precautions taken, they need not bring in hog cholera.

The ranchmen of the Northwest must not imagine that the pure air of that region will give them immunity from hog cholera. It will not, where the germ is brought in but it may lessen the mortality. They must not conclude that the foods which may grow will be a safeguard. These will lessen the mortality, but they will not prevent the introduction of hog cholera. When it comes it is brought through the medium of some agency, and usually due precaution will prevent it from coming.
