HAWAIIANS AT ARCADE.

Evelyn Pritchard and Her Royal Hawaiian Troupe at the Arcade.

Tomorrow, Friday, matinee and evening will mark one of the biggest performances ever given in this city, when Evelyn Pritchard and her troupe of Royal Hawaiian Singers and musicians will give their initial show at the Arcade theater. Manager Gardiner at an enormous expense has been able to secure this troupe of vaudevillians for Friday and Saturday of this week and from reports of the biggest vaudeville houses East and West, a rare treat is promised the patrons of the Arcade theater.

Miss Pritchard, an American girl, possessed of both looks and talent, renders successfully some soprano solos and with her quartet of Hawaiian singers forms a beautiful ensemble in their several quartet and quintet numbers.

The crowning feature of the act is the Original Hula Hula dance by Miss Pritchard and company, and is a true rendition of the dance as done by the natives of Hawaii.

For the benefit of the L. D. S. church members it may be said here, that the Hawaiian quartet are members of that church and have successfully sung in the tabernacles of the leading towns through Utah, including Salt Lake City.—Adv.

In addition to the above program Williams and Williams, that classy duo of entertainers who make their first appearance tonight and the feature program of -Universal pictures, are to be shown.

Followed Suit.
On the day of the admission of M. Rostand to the French academy the author of "Cyrano" and "L'Aiglon" gave a breakfast to a few of his friends, the guest of honor being Mme. Bernhardt. The actress was dressed in a handsome gown, which had been made expressly for the occasion. At the end of the breakfast she arose and in an impressive manner took a glass, held it high and said, "I drink to the greatest of French dramatists, M. Rostand, and I drink after the Greek manner!" She then poured the contents of her glass over her head and down.

Two of Rostand's small sons were sitting at a side table wearing new velvet suits, also made for the occasion. In the silence which followed Bernhardt's dramatic tribute the elder of the boys arose and, imitating her manner, said, "I drink to the greatest of poets, my papa, and I also drink in the Greek fashion!" and straightway deluged himself and his small brother with the contents of his glass.

A Curious Army Toast.

Of all the British regiments the Welsh fusiliers have the most curious army toast. It forms part of the ceremony of the grand dinner given annually on St. David's day. After the dinner the drum major, accompanied by the goat, the mascot of the fusiliers, bedecked with rosettes of red and blue ribbon, marches around the table, carrying a plate of leeks. Every officer or guest who has never eaten one before is obliged to do so, standing on his chair with one foot on the table, while the drummers beat a roll behind his chair. He is then considered a true Welshman. All the toasts are coupled with the name of St. David. It is in much this way that the toast with highland honors is drunk. Each guest stands with one foot on his chair and one on the table and the pipers, a-piping, parade the room.

"Inn" and "Hotel."

The Saxon word "inn," taken in its present sense, was probably in use before the conquest, whereas the purely French word "hotel," as generally applied to "an inn of style and pretension," dates only from about the time when officers of the British army of occupation returned from Paris with enthusiastic accounts of Meurice's and a dozen other hostleries of the Rue de Rivoli and the Rue St. Honore which quite threw the humbler accommodation offered by the average British inn of that period into the shade. At the commencement of the nineteenth century Frenchmen, taught the London innkeeper the science of hotel keeping, before the beginning of the twentieth the Englishman had begun to return the compliment.—Country Life.

The Palm Tree of Capri.

I knew a palm tree upon Capri. It stood in select society of shining fig leaves and lustrous oleanders. It overhung the balcony and so looked, far overleaning, down upon the blue Mediterranean. Through the dream mists of southern Italian noons it looked up the broad bay of Naples and saw vague Vesuvius melting away, or at sunset the isles of the Sirens, or in the full May moonlight the oranges of Sorrento. And from the Sorrento wharves Tasso was born it looked across to pleasant Posilippo, where Vergil is buried, and to stately Ischia. The palm of Capri saw all that was fairest and most famous in the bay of Naples.—George William Curtis.

Attention Odd Fellows and Rebekahs. Meet at hall tonight at 7:30 to meet remains of Brother C. E. Golden, due on 8:25 train.
