REALTY MOVES CONSTANTLY

HOMES AND FARMS BEING BOUGHT AND SOLD.

La Grande Investment Company Handles Several Deals.

Real estate shows a healthy movement these days; no particularly big deals are negotiated, but transfer of comfortable homes is almost a daily occurrence.

During the past few days the La Grande Investment company has closed some important deals. Below are some trading and building and selling deals consummated through the La Grande Investment company.

Mr. J. C. Barham who works at the Golden Rule Store and his brother-in-law R. C. Provost who works at the Palmer mill, purchased the desirable home on North Second street known as the Fred Knuteson place. The new owners intend to make this as nice a home as any on the street. They both say no more rent receipts for them.

Ezra Allen, an employee of the O. W. R. & N., concluded he was not making best use of his money by paying rent, so he purchased the neat home from Chas. Biddingfield on T corner of W and Jackson Ave., and is now happily settled in same.

Mr. Beddingfield has a good fireman's position with O.W. on passenger trains and says La Grande looks good to him. He purchased one of the modern cottages on W Avenue between North Fir and North Depot streets from Mrs. Maggie Monsell and is now snugly housed in the same.

Ray Baum who has purchased 3 lots on M Avenue and soon expects to build.

T. G. Wheelright has sold his new and modern bungalow on Oak street, to The La Grande Investment Co. It is a desirable home for anyone.

Mr. H. K. O'Brien has purchased lot 14 of Grande View Addition, the choice addition to La Grande. It is an acre, set to fruit.

Carl Baum got the fever for owning a home and purchased two very choice lots from the McAnish Addition and expects to start a nice house before long.

T. G. Wheelright says: "Give me some good old soil and timber on it and it looks good to me." He purchased 160 acres near Telocasset.

E. S. Baum has purchased a lot in the McAnish Addition purely as an investment. He is going to give it to a son when he becomes of age.

W. R. Underwood a brother of Dr. H. L. Underwood decided on farm life for himself and family. He purchased the R. D. Bancroft 80 acre farm, 2 1-4 miles northwest of Elgin.

This place, Mr. Underwood says, is an ideal home. There are 14 acres in orchard part of which is now in bearing all kinds of fruit. For all kinds of fruit, berries, alfalfa and garden truck this place is of the best. The large house commands a view of the whole surrounding country, making a beautiful home. Mr. Underwood says his friends will find him at home on the farm.
