MADE HIMSELF SAFE.

Young Bessemer Had a Cautious as Well as an Inventive Head.

The most trivial incidents have often originated the fortunes of our richest men. Take, for example, the fortunes made out of Bessemer steel. This genius, young Bessemer, had some idea of making steel out of iron, but a poor, newly married young man has no means of experimenting on a large scale. The story I must tell as I heard it from an intimate friend of Bessemer and is a true tale.

After Bessemer had in his small laboratory experimented with the metals and at last obtained the desired result by blowing air through melted iron he found in the bottom of the crucible a little lump of the famous steel. Now the question was how to make the discovery public. He put the lump of Indigestion and Constipation.

"About five years ago I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets after suffering from indigestion and constipation for years without finding anything to relieve me. Chamberlain's Tablets helped me at once and by using them for several weeks I was cured of the complaint," writes Mrs. Mary E. McMullen, Phelps, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

steel into his pocket and made his way to Nasmyth of steam hammer fame. Placing the metal on Nasmyth's desk, he told him that he had made this extraordinary discovery, which would revolutionize the whole metal world.

Then came a little incident which shows what wonderful heads these Scotch financiers possess. What do you think Nasmyth said to his excited inventor?

"Ed, mon, it's very risky to show your wonderful invention. The world is very dishonest."

To which the aspiring inventor replied:

"Right, Mr. Nasmyth. I just calculated who I was coming to see, so with my last half crown I registered the invention on my way."—London Strand Magazine.

A Cross Bull.

The late Lord Cross never added greatly to the humor of the nation. On one occasion, however, while he was still in the house of commons he tried to be sarcastic during a speech.

"I think," he said, fixing a certain minister with a ferocious eye, "I think I hear the right honorable gentleman smile."

After that remark, if it were any satisfaction to him, he heard the whole house laugh.—London Globe.
