Cost $38.60 to Cross Continent.

A trip across the continent, attended by many exciting experiences, has just been made by a party consisting of G. W. and M. V. Lagan of Pillin, O., who drove a car through to the coast in the face of the worst weather and road conditions of the year. The entire expenditure by the Logans on their trip was $38.60. This amount established a precedent in economy that will doubtless hold as a record for some time. No repairs of any kind were required along the road, and as the car was left in the open each night the garage expense was a negligible quantity.

GOOD ROADS AND THRIFT.

France Sets an Example the Rest of the World Might Follow.

Good farms and good roads go together. Good roads mean cheaper hauling prices, better profits—therefore more money. The wealth of a nation is the wealth of its population. The population of the country of France is known to be the most thrifty, the least poverty stricken and the best provided for of any country in the world. And France has a better road system and more good roads in proportion to its area than any other country of the same or greater size. Has France rural wealth because of its good roads or has it good roads because of its thrifty peasantry?

It is, therefore, for us in this country to look upon France not only as a good example, but as the example of the fulfillment of dreams. We cannot solve our problem in any other way than as France has solved hers with any surety of success. She builds her national highways first, owns them, controls them, repairs them. She has her departments—her divisions corresponding to our states—build their own roads as feeders of this system, connecting with it, joining national road to national road. Finally her parishes or communes—similar political divisions to our counties—build their own roads, interlacing, connecting and binding together the whole into one vast network of hard surfaced roads.—Burlington Life.

PRAYER OF AJAX.

Ajax, king of Salamis, who acted a prominent part in the siege of Troy, is given lines in Homer's "Iliad" to fit his heroic character. Pope's translation reads:

"Lord of earth and air;
O king, O father, hear my humble prayer;
Dispel this cloud, the light of heaven restore;
Give me to see, and Ajax asks no more.
If Greece must perish, we thy will obey.
But let us perish in the face of day."
