hitching them to a King road drag and allowing them to promenade up and down the highway adjoining their land. The boys are enthusiastic in their praise of the good qualities of the road drag, and the people who travel this road are enthusiastic in their praise of the work of the Ohms boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Chapple moved Monday onto their farm near Rinehart station. Mr. Chapple has also rented the Eugene Rinehart farm and will run both ranches this season, about 600 acres in all. He will be seen no more in the City Drug store, as he expects to make the farm his permanent home.

Harvey Patton, who has been employed by the O-W. in La Grande, has gone to Pendleton where he has accepted a position.

Miss Irma Bean, who teaches school in this district, went to La Grande Friday for a week-end visit with her mother.

Miss Molly Becker and Wm. Workman went to Enterprise Friday to visit friends and to be present at a big dance in that city.

Mrs. Emma McShain went to La Grande last Friday for a visit with her children. She was accompanied home by her son, Jas. McShane.

At the close of the celebration last year enthusiasm ran rampant among many of the Elgin citizens for a new city park, with the baseball grounds as the location, where not only could the ball diamond be maintained, a park provided, but a race track constructed, providing every facility for the staging of public events.

When the stockholders of the Elgin Park association transferred their rights and title to the old park to the City of Elgin, it was hoped by all that some effort would be made to dispose of the same and purchase the site of the ball park. Such a place ought to be provided.

John Henderson was a passenger to La Grande Monday on business.

Willie Weown, of Imbler, was in Elgin a few days this week visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chattin were business visitors in La Grande last Thursday.

Miss Ethel Aubin and little son left last Saturday for Walla Walla for a visit with relatives.

L. C. Bain and family and J. J. Brannum and family, of Oakwood, Oklahoma, were arrivals Thursday morning, and will locate on a homestead out in the dry belt. These men and thorough and practical farmers, and we welcome them with open hands, as they are the class of men that make dry farming a success in Eastern Oregon.

H. L. Lyons, division engineer, G. S. C. Smith, superintendent of bridges, A. Buckley, assistant superintendent and W. Bollins, general superintendent, were looking over busness matters in our city Thursday morning.

Mr. E. Forstrom informs us that he has two cars of Overland and one of Case en route from the factory billed to this point. There has already been one car of Overlands sold to residents of this vicinity. This famous auto is now selling at $885 for five-passenger touring car, and up to $1200 for the big machine.

The Ladies' Aid was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Ruby Irvine. The next meeting, Thursday of next week will be at the home of Mrs. A. E. Lambert.

C. A. Phillips, O-W. station agent at this place, has resigned his position and with his wife baby will depart for Gervias, Oregon, via Spokane, where they will visit for a few days, and will stop en route west with relatives at Portland for a week or two to visit. Mr. Phillips has a nice 40-acre ranch at Gervias that will keep him busy developing and it will be a welcome change from the duties of station agent. We are sorry that Mr. Phillips and his estimable lady should leave North Powder, but what we lose the citizens of Gervias gain. C. J. Hasen, of Echo, will assume the duties of station agent at this place.

The marriage of Edward M. Leighton to Miss Grace Hindman was solemnized at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Leigh-ton, in this city, Wednesday evening, March 3, 1915, at 8 o'clock p. m., Rev. McVicker, of the Presbyterian church officiating.

The ceremony was attended by only a very few of the relatives of the contracting parties. Miss Irma Hotchkiss acted as bridesmaid and Luther Hindman, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen.

After the wedding a light supper was served.

That but little of the wheat crop of this section remains unsold is attested by the fact that there are only about 1200 sacks in local warehouses that is owned by local farmers.

Of the remaining unsold grain a portion of it belongs to T. H. Morris, of Illinois, and the balance belongs to Harry Hug and Jones of the Flat.

There is still a considerable quantity of oats in the hands of growers, but comprises a very small per cent of the total crop.

Joe Hallgarth, who recently purchased the lots of S. A. Tuttle just east of the residence, will erect a new house thereon during the summer.

The new house will be modern in every respect and will add appreciably to that already popular residential section of the city.

Local owners of automobiles have a force of men and teams at work dragging the muddy portion of road leading from Elgin to the Willow creek. Special attention is being given that portion of the road passing the Hallgarth farm. Auto owners are paying for the work and are to be commended upon their enterprise.

North of Elgin the Ohms brothers have been doing some good work on their own account. They have several colts to break and are giving the young horses needed instructions by

What You Will See

Vivid scenes, strong action, picturing the passions of true men, dance hall scenes in the Alaskan frontier towns, wanton murder in the streets of Nome, the seizure of the valuable mine, the Midas, by a political boss, the organization of vigilantes, the blowing up of this valuable mine, gambling hall scenes, the awful night Helen Chester, a pure innocent girl, spent in the Roadhouse alone with the passion crazed Struve, then that terrible bare fisted fight between two hate maddened men, the coming of the law, and the onward march of civilization to a barren rugged country, all of which has gone to form a part of history. All of these scenes and many others are wonderfully, graphically and interestingly portrayed.

"The Spoilers" is a wonderful picture. Over 144,000 distinct photographs were taken covering 14,500 feet of film which was carefully reduced down to 9,000 that takes two hours and fifteen minutes to run.

YOU WILL SEE what thousands of others have seen. In Los Angeles one hundred thousand saw the picture in two weeks. In San Francisco thousands were turned away the first week of its run there. Return engagements have been played in every city of any size in the United States.

YOU WILL SEE what money can do when competent men are told to go ahead and produce the greatest picture that America has ever known.

In Addition an Act of High Class Vaudeville

You are not afraid to get a real good whipping are you?

Mr. Farnum asked Mr. Santschi when they were ready to play the fight scene which occurs in Struve's office. Mr. Santschi replied that he was not and at the same time asked Mr. Farnum if he wanted to make it a real fight. Mr. Farnum replied that he was very anxious to, so they went at it with the result that you will see one of the most realistic encounters that was ever put in a play.

A battery of five cameras was trained on the pair and not an incident was lost.

A whole mining town was bought and blown to pieces, thirty vessels were chartered, in fact everything was done to make this one of the most realistic pictures ever staged.

The taming of a primitive man by a sweet, innocent girl is the big crux of this romance that is carried out with simple, sympathetic deftness, and the contrast between Chery Malotte and Helen Dexter is another tremendously fascinating force in the story.

Kathlyn Williams never did as conscientious work or reach the heights of success she has in "The Spoilers" as the good-hearted idol of the camp.

Bessie Eytton as Helen Dexter carries you along with her, heart and soul. When she makes the leap from the topmost deck of the ship to the waters of the Bay, swims to the dark pier, one sees decisive action that makes you forget that it is not real.

WILLIAM FARNUM as Glenister has erected his own monument in the memory of mankind by his skillful handling of the part of the hero. He is a man's man and a woman's ideal of the masculine.
