IRISH BARDS PROVEN ARTISTS

Casting darts of mirth and harpoons of Gridiron-club severity, singing, acting and dancing in homage to Saint Patrick but more especially for the edification of a big crowd in the house, many sons of Erin who make the Grande Ronde their home, last evening enacted one of the most charming entertainments La Grande has seen. It was so much different to the usual concert and entertainment, and far better and more popular than anything the Irish themselves have yet attempted.

The thing went with a bang from the moment Interlocutor Frederick L. Meyers introduced the first song number. It never lagged a bit, and the program was followed out minutely. Despite a very disagreeable night, the audience was big, and what is more, came away perfectly satisfied. It was a good show, well put on, well received, and what more could be expected?

Here is a list of the things and people who entertained at this very unique entertainment, each covering himself with distinction:

State Commercial Club News. Portland, Ore. March 16, 1915. (Special).—The working out of details in connection with the consolidation of the Portland Commercial Club and the Chamber of Commerce is progressing rapidly and smoothly and within a very short time all the varied, and frequently duplicated, activities of these two important bodies will be welded into one harmonious and effective unit. Under the direction of the new organization the work of development of the state and its resources will receive more consideration than ever before. The budget committee is unanimous in the opinion that greater efforts should be made in the future to assist established industries in all the communities of the state and that it is up to Portland to live up to the record already made in this line and to make great additions to the work already outlined.

The entire strength of the organizations will be united in a comprehensive program for the development of Oregon; to help farmers to profitably market their produce; to finance the small farmer who finds himself unable to secure a suitable location; to welcome the new settler and help him to select and establish a new home; to take care of the great number of travelers expected to visit the state during the present year and to effectively apply the knowledge gained during the past ten years to meeting the present and future requirements of the business interests of the whole state.

Ground has been broken for the construction of the great inter-state bridge which is to connect the city of Portland with Vancouver, Washington, and which will be an important link in the Pacific Highway, one of the most remarkable thoroughfares in the United States. As far as possible all contracts for the work have been let to local firms and preference will be given to locally produced materials and to local labor. Necessary funds are available for driving the work to early completion.

At Champoeg, on May 1, will be celebrated the seventy-second anniversary of the organization of the first American civil government west of the Rocky Mountains. This will be the fifteenth celebration of the event, the first having been held in 1901. On June 17, at Portland, will be held the forty-third annual reunion of Oregon Pioneers, those who came to, or were born in, any part of the original Oregon Country previous to 1859.

The county court of Crook County has made a liberal appropriation of funds to be used on the Lincoln Highway between Bend and La Pine, via Lava Butte. It is intended to make this one of the best roads in the whole state.

A campaign has been launched at Eugene to raise $150,000 for the establishment of a lace factory at that point. It is said the Pacific Coast

Coughs and Colds Not to Be Neglected

Anyone will realize the seriousness of neglecting a cold if he observes results of such neglect among his acquaintances. How often have you heard, "He caught cold, didn't do anything for it and it turned into"—then some dreaded disease is named.

Ordinary colds yield to prompt treatment at the beginning. That is why every family should be supplied with a reliable cough medicine—one that will heal raw and inflamed surfaces, loosen the phlegm, allay irritation, ease the hoarseness and stop the tickling sensation in the throat that does not permit one to sleep.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is invaluable for relief of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, tickling in throat, tightness or soreness, grippe or bronchial coughs. It contains no harmful ingredients. It is healing, soothing, efficient and pleasing.

pays out $500,000 to $700,000 annually for lace and it is believed that a local factory could secure the buy of that business.
