C. L. Kaler, locally known as Oregon's Burbank, was the recipient of a birthday surprise Friday when seven of his friends assembled at his home, extending congratulations on his 76th birthday. The guests brought with them the necessities for an elaborate birthday dinner. Mr. Kaler was temporarily ordered to resume his work in the garden and as soon as the spread had been prepared the visiting delegation escorted him to a place of honor at the banquet board. Everything was complete even to a bouquet of carnations. There was music and song in which the host was forced to participate, and general jollity held full swing. The venerable host attempted to express thanks for the unexpected mark of respect on the part of those present, stating that this was the first birthday party he had ever had given in his honor. The quiver of his chin expressed more eloquently than words the depth of his feelings. Those who were responsible for the affair were Messdames H. A. Thomas, Honan, J. A. Russell, W. H. Bohnenkamp, E. Polack and E. L. Eckley.

MUSIC NEWS

Monday evening music lovers will be privileged to hear the gifted organist of the Mormon tabernacle, Salt Lake, Prof. J. J. McClellan, in his introductory recital which he will give as the first of a series of five concerts at the great Panama-Pacific Exposition organ in Festival hall, San Francisco on April 18-19-20-21-22.

Being one of the ten American organists engaged to appear is a compliment worthy of the Utah artist and the concert Monday evening is secured by the music lovers of La Grande and the surrounding cities. Prof. McClellan, after playing with Miss Lyne, left for Spokane for a recital and is breaking his return trip home to play his popular program, in this city. His superb piano accompaniment for Miss Lyne last night marks him as a master of the piano as well as the organ.

The services of Mr. C. P. Ferrin, the excellent tenor of La Grande and the well known La Grande Male Quartet have been secured to assist Prof. McClellan. The general admission will be 25 cents, reserved seats 50 cents and children 10 cents. Tickets are on sale at Van Buren's.

Such as have been fortunate enough to hear rehearsals in "The Mikado," to be put on by high school students under the direction of Miss Ramsdell, March 26, say that it will surpass the presentation of that opera by older heads a few years ago in this city. The date has been finally set down for March 26, and the cast as announced in the Observer a few days ago will be seen in action and heard in song. Costumes have been leased for the occasion, and the high school venture will prove a success, no doubt.

The social meeting of "Fra" was held Monday night in the gymnasium. Only a few were present but a good time was enjoyed by those attending. In a short business meeting preceding the social affair an amendment was adopted which stated that hereafter the literary meetings shall be given on Friday afternoons from 2:30 till the close of school.

A Tillicum party given by Ruth Livengood's division was enjoyed by about 50 guests in the gymnasium Friday after school.

Many novel ideas in entertainment were enjoyed and every one reported a "capital time." The following magazines have been added to the library: The Outlook, The Scientific American, The Independent, The Mentor.
