A New Method

of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

K.C. BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K.C. Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K.C. is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

WAR HAS MANY PECULIARITIES

Paris, Mar. 24.—(By Mail to New York)—"In times of war prepare for peace." This is to be the slogan hereafter of a block in the French Chamber of Deputies headed by Deputy Frederick Brunet of the Department of the Seine. Just as France possibly made a mistake in times of peace in not preparing more fully for war, so Deputy Brunet declares she will make even a greater mistake now that she has war if she fails to take advantage of it for a thorough preparation for peace.

With the certainty of a victorious peace only a question of time, Brunet declares France will not only lose a great portion of the advantage that will come with it but will find herself utterly unable to cope with the gigantic problems which will then be presented unless she begins immediately her preparations. Already Brunet has prepared a series of proposed laws to this end and these are to be introduced at once into the French parliament.

While the bulk of these proposed measures have to do largely with the more material advantages and preparations of peace, Brunet has also made provisions in them for what may prove the beginning of the realization in France of the dreams of syndicalists the world over—the establishment of working men on a basis where they will share in the profits of their own labors.

One of the first problems which Brunet declares France will face when the moment peace comes will be the rebuilding of the hundreds of cities, towns, villages, hamlets and huts that have been destroyed not only in the invaded districts of France but of Belgium as well. If that problem is allowed to go until peace has come, Brunet declares France will not find herself in a position to solve it. With the heavy losses of human lives entailed by the war she finds herself without the labor necessary for the actual work and she will find herself without the material.

"Brunet's first law project therefore provides for the immediate reopening of all factories and industries engaged in the production of material for the building trades.

Not a brickyard he declares in all France can afford to be allowed to remain closed at the present moment. Every, lumber mill, he insists should be working over time, while the wood mills, where doors, and window frames and casements are made have before them a task in supplying the material for the rebuilding of the French towns and villages that will tax them for beyond their utmost capacity unless they begin at once.
