ALICEL NEWS ITEMS.

Alicel, Ore., April. 18. (Special)—The cut worms are on their grand march in night affairs taking everything before them equal to Von Hindenburg. They seem to catch the European idea of mobilization. The "Ne plus ultra" literary society has disbanded for the summer. A number of fine programs were rendered during the season Great interest was taken in the debates arranged between Alicel and Imbler The society felt jubilant over winning two decisions out of three. Now that Alicel has won, it might be in place to show the men who did the work. W. J. Case is one of the most cooperative men you ever saw. According to one of our own poets he has cooperative bread and cooperative butter. The flour must be ground in a co-operative mill and put in co-operative sacks. Tom Walsinger is the philosopher of the Sandridge and all questions are studied to the core, uniting the learning of passing yore to the abundant modern thought he had in store. How could Imbler in giant debate come out but in the second rate?

Manary Thompson with paper and hood and mind as acute as Isaac with his hook, can strike the subject in every lick, firm and steady like Roosevelt with a big stick. Oh Imbler had no show under such a heavy blow. Maxey was next though not such a teacher; nuff sed; he's just a preacher.

BIG DAY OBSERVED

San Francisco Celebrates "Nine Years After" in Real Style

By W. E. MEACHAM.
Panama Exposition, San Francisco, April 17.—(Special) All San Francisco is celebrating "Nine Years After" this being the ninth anniversary of the great fire that laid the city in ashes.

A great parade was held this morning and passed in review before the Tower of Jewels, Major Geo. Murray and Exposition officials in the reviewing stand and thousands of spectators lining the line of march. Special features will be held for several days in honor of the occasion.

Several Eastern Oregon people visited us during the week.

George Weide of La Grande, J. L. Hindmann, Elgin, H. M. Johnson and Leo Bessler, Sumpter, Mrs. L. E. Jones, Ontario, J. E. Mills, Cornucopia, and M. C. Moore, Vale, were interested spectators of the Fair. We had the pleasure of showing Congressman Nick Sinnott the sights of the Fair. He is on his way home at The Dalles and stopped a few days to see the big show. He was pleased with the Oregon building and the showing that Eastern Oregon is making.

He characterized the Oregon Building as distinctive, substantial and unique. With him was his private secretary Edward Baldwin, who made the trip through the Panama Canal on the steamer Northern Pacific.

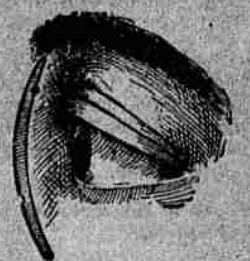

C. N. Cranston of Pendleton arrived here yesterday and will relieve me of the duties here. I expect to go to Los Angeles and San Diego for a few days visit and then back to Eastern Oregon.

Word has been received from Rev. R. C. Lee, of Sumpter, that he will speak at the Y. M. C. A. at three o'clock next Sunday afternoon. R. C. Lee is the man that stood firmly for law enforcement at Huntington last year, which stand was probably the cause for the "Shooting-up" of his church and later his home. He still holds one of the bullets which he dug out of the church well. Mr. Lee is an old sea captain and a fighter. The men who hear him next Sunday will not be disappointed.
