Printing Point Does Not Bob Up and Down

In an L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter the point on the paper which is to receive the type impression is stationary at the instant the type hits. The carriage does not bob up and down when the shift is made to write capitals.

Why?

Because the type is shifted—not the carriage.

The only movement of the carriage is back and forth on its closely adjusted ball bearing runways—and this does not take place while the print is being made. There is no lifting of the carriage.

This is one reason why L. C. Smith & Bros. typewriting is free from blurs and every letter in the right place.

RUNAWAY JUNE

waddling out on the dock and shook the overcoat. The cap wobbled.

"Hey!" This was from the short, thick figure, but the aperture through which the sound came was so stiff that the result was only a wheeze.

A snore came from the overcoat.

"Hey!" A punch, a kick, but a stiff kick which had no force.

"Ugh!" The grunt was from the night watchman.

"Well, you with the distillery breath. I tried to tell you all night, didn't I? Oh, get all! This is Bill Wolf, the private detective, talking to you."

"Ugh!" The cap moved, but the overcoat was still asleep.

"They stole the Flash, I say, they!"

"The Flash!" The overcoat straightened. It rose. The cap stiffened its angle. The combination scrambled to its feet.

"They stole the Flash!"

"Stole it! Who?"

"Oh, who?" The tone was one of infinite contempt. "Why, the little pink whiskered guy and the bony dame! Stole it! And now where did they go?"

"The yacht—what's her name?" The overcoat and cap were still bazy. The cap turned abruptly toward the hamper, on the adjoining dock, where the name stood out in blunt white letters, "Hilarity!" "The?"

"The Hilarity!" Bill Wolf strooped with his hands on his knees to stare at that information which had been in plain sight all night. "Me for a telephone. Gee, look at that boat go!"

Upon the swelling waves rode the Hilarity, and all on board of her, save the officers of the night and one other, were sound asleep.

That one was June Warner. She had noiselessly dressed herself in a yachting costume, and now she slowly removed a bar which held the sliding of a secret panel she had discovered in the wall of her cabin. Then she shoved it to one side until the opening was large enough to admit her lithe, slender figure. She found herself in a stateroom faintly illumined by the glowing of the dawn, and in that room, on a chair and still wearing the evening raiment of the night before, sat his head bent upon his shoulder, Orin Cunningham.

With a shudder of aversion June sped to the door of Cunningham's cabin and opened it. She passed through the salon. There on the bench stretched Tommy Thomas, one tapering arm bent over her head and her dainty slippers crossed in slumbersome ease.

Swiftly, silently, June gained the deck. Creeping close to the cabins, she rounded the stern. The Hilarity had dropped anchor, and the landing studs with their sliken hand rail had been let down. At the platform bobbed the motor tender.

Swiftly, silently, the runaway bride crept out and down the side of the yacht and dropped as noiselessly as a cat into the monorail while the long pink fingers of the dawn swept athwart the yellowing sky.

With a thumping heart June started to move, and at the sound Gilbert Blye's dark handsome face appeared above the rail!

Harvest Hands Problem.

Des Moines, Ia., May 20.—A. L. Urlick, state labor commissioner, announced he will co-operate with seven other states in supplying harvest hands to farmers, as soon as the free employment bureau is in operation July 4. It was authorized by the 36th general assembly which recently adjourned. A plan has been adopted by which the harvest hands will commence work in the fields of Oklahoma in the middle of June, then proceed to Kansas and Nebraska, then Iowa and the Dakotas and Minnesota and finish the season in Canada. It is proposed to have the employment bureaus of eight midwestern states take charge of these men and pass them on from state to state.

University of Michigan Festival.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 20.—Three artists of world fame are billed today to participate in the annual "May Festival" of the University of Michigan School of Music, which started here yesterday. They are John McCormick, the great Irish tenor, Mme. Ober, the Metropolitan opera star, and Harold Bauer, Master pianist. A series of six concerts will be given during the four days of the festival.
