SPORT CLOTHES WORN BY THE WOMEN HAVE STRIKING POINTS

Bannish Blouses and Tailored Skirts First Essentials for Freedom and Comfort—New Hats of Linen and Panama.

Rip Van Winkle: "Heavens, put me to sleep again."

New York, May 22—Caught in the thrall of the season's first heat, which accounts for the smart set's sudden departure, the great city turns its thoughts to the country club, and the stores display trappings for tennis, golf, tramping and riding to tempt those who may tarry in town and the few who motor in to do their shopping.

So exanting is the mode for sports, that the time is long past when a woman can appear on the turf in baggy, ill-fitting clothes. Today her attire bespeaks the smart tailor. Separate coats are particularly prominent. Straight in Norfolk style, or flaring at the lower edge, they are made of white chinchilla cloth, white woolen barred in black, covert cloth, checks, tweeds, washable corduroy, awning striped linen and golf cord, the welt a silky rose and the stripe white.

A decided liking for the silk Jersey sweaters is also evident, the styles medium in length, ranging from the regulation model finished with a band at the neck to fancy sweaters—broad sashes and sailor collars. Plain colors, stripes and bars are shown in these, rose, blue, and purple being favored barred or striped in white. Even raincoats have gained a few points in style, now appearing in attractive Scotch plaids and checks, rubberized to withstand the water.

On the tennis courts, middie blouses are still seen, their freedom and comfort having won the heart of the sportswoman. One shop on the avenue devotes a side window, tucked in between two marble pillars, to rackets, balls, sports shoes and middies. The blouses, slashed in front and laced, have sailor collars and cuff-like hems; they are made of white linen, crepe de Chine, wash silk and khaki cloth, the fabric of the soldiers' uniforms, an attractive tan in color and with good wearing qualities.

While the whims of fashion are not as a rule rigidly followed in the clothes for sports wear, the added width in skirts is readily accepted. To be sure, skirts for walking, golf and tennis are not extreme, but now measure from two and a half to three yards around the lower edge. Such fabrics as pique, plain and in novel stripes and bars, linen crash, khaki, tweed and herringbone mixtures are shown in these skirts, which are short and plain save for a lap closing or patch pockets.

Hats, too, have a swagger style. Panamas appear in every conceivable shape, from slouch to stiff sailor, with knitted silk bands made like the knitted ties the men wear. There are collapsible hemp straws and black felt faced in colors, convenient to tuck in the corner of a bag when leaving town for a week-end. Broad-brimmed sailors of printed linen in two-toned effects and in natural linen faced with blue are also smart, while rolling brimmed sailors of grass straw in purple and white, and black and white lend variety to the styles; or you may have a bonny tam-o'-shanter loosely knitted in course silk jauntily tilted to one side, like the Scotchman wears on the heath.

As in other seasons, the gloves are the heavy mannish type of tan leather or white buckskin to protect the hand of the fair warrior, but belts are a real innovation, as they appear in brilliant stripes and checks, knitted to match the bands on the hats, or in black or colored leather finished with a large buckle at the front.

Fancy shoes have grown so common, it is small wonder we find a few novelties among the models for sports wear. Perhaps the most striking is a white buckskin tie with rubber sole and stripings of green or red leather, which serve as trimming, as well as a stay for the flexible buckskin. One house is featuring a white buckskin shoe, the sole of ly knew how to wear their clothes. The very suitability of the garments made them stylish. With her fair skin tanned a delicate brown, the first was a perfect picture of what a robust American girl should be in her Norfolk coat of tan chinchilla, with blue linen skirt showing below, sailor hat of the same material, tan gloves and low-heeled ties of tan leather. The other woman a trifle older, wore a white linen blouse with collar turned low, a striped pique skirt with large patch pockets and a panama hat with checkered band of knitted silk that carried out the contrast of her white buckskin shoes, stayed with black leather, and her black leather belt. There was nothing to hamper their freedom, not a surplus frill or button, but every detail of the costumes showed the thought that had been given their selections by the women themselves.
