

PORTLAND IN KEEN STATE

WHOLE NORTHWEST IS ALSO INTERESTED.

Tourist Returns from Trip Over the Entire Northwest.

Portland is more enthused over the motorcycle races June 17 than any of the towns within a radius of 50 miles, thinks Harley Richardson, treasurer of the Motorcycle club, who returned today from an extended exploitation junket over the entire northwest. He is certain that at least 25 people who have no particular interest in motorcycling, will be here to see the sport. The motorcycle fraternity in Portland is highly interested and of course will be here in numbers.

"We are going to have the racers that were at Portland recently and at least a dozen more men of racing quality" declared Mr. Richardson on his return today noon. "The whole northwest is intensely interested in the big show."

One of the tennis teams from Imbler composed of Fred Fox and Lyle Wilson, defeated the Union boys, at Union, Oregon, on June 2 and 3 in three different series; two sets from Louie Terral and Walter Cock, 6-3, 6-4; two sets from Dr. Bryan and Walter Cock, 6-1, 6-4. Also two sets out of three from Louie Terral and Dr. Bryan, 6-8, 8-6, 6-3.

Union Judge Decides.

Baker, June 8.—A Baker county case, decided by a Union county judge, came to a close today, when C. H. McCulloch, attorney for James Dalton, defendant, received word from Judge Knowles that the case brought by Mrs. Effie L. York, administratrix of the estate of James T. York, had been decided in favor of Mr. Dalton and that the latter is entitled to judgment for $317.28 and to one-half of a 160-acre ranch, the title to which has been held in trust.

The case was tried by Judge Knowles, as Judge Anderson had at one time been counsel for Mr. Dalton and Mr. York when the two were in partnership.

NOGALES PAPER RECITES THRILLING STORY.

Harvey Corpe, Former La Grande, Publishes Story of Massacres.

The Nogales Daily Herald published at Nogales, Ariz., by Harvey Corpe, a Cove man formerly secretary of the La Grande Businessmen's association, has been received here telling of the murder of former Union county citizens in Indian uprisings. It says:

How two white men and a handful of Mexicans, who turned yellow and fled at the critical time, held off for half a day two hundred and fifty "broncho" Yaquis, was related in detail today by John Weber, who came up from Esperanza on the train from Quaymas last night.

In the lobby of the Arizona hotel

Weber graphically told how, three weeks before the big raid happened, when Wilson, Fay and Donovan were slain, he and Walter Sheldon were alone on the Sheldon and Jones ranch, seven miles from Esperanza, the nearest settlement, with thirty Chinamen and thirty of forty Mexicans, who were engaged in working

Led by Negro. "About ten o'clock in the morning," said Mr. Weber, "the Chinamen, who were clearing mess quite some distance from the ranch house, were surprised by Yaquis, under the leadership of the giant, one-armed negro half-breed, Chief Subulyama. The Yaquis told the Chinamen that they would have to leave the country, together with all 'gringos' and Mexicans, for Sonora, belonged to the Yaquis. Then they stripped the Chinamen of everything they had, even to their clothes, and let them go. The Chinamen started running at top speed towards Esperanza, and not even the devil himself could have stopped them.

"Another Chinaman saw them running and shouted to them to ask the reason for their haste. They told him that they had been held up by Yaquis and that they had been told to get out of the country. What was more, they were going, and going fast.

"The Chinaman came hot-footed to the ranch house, where Sheldon and myself were just about to sit down to our dinner, and told us of the occurrence. The ranch hands came in just then and we told them that nobody would be sent out to work that afternoon.

Dinner First.

"Then," said Mr. Weber, who is a short, sandy-haired German, "we sat down to dinner." "But didn't you post men to guard first?" asked the Herald reporter. "Yes—afterwards. But first we had to have our dinner!"

Weber went on to relate how he and Sheldon and the Mexicans lay low in the ranch house for half an hour after dinner, and then, nothing happening, grew tired and skeptical of the Chinaman's story and started out to investigate. He and Sheldon went out from the ranch house towards the mesquite where the Chinamen had been surprised, on foot, and three Mexicans on horseback rode in a different direction. The white men had got nearly to the mesquite—ac canal six—when they heard shots. The Mexicans had ridden through two fields of alfalfa and wheat and had reached some woods, in which part of the Yaquis were hidden. The Indians had opened fire. Sheldon and Weber turned and started towards the house and saw three Mexicans ambushed on their return to the house by Yaquis who had been concealed in the alfalfa and wheat which they had previously passed.

STRICT NEUTRALITY
PAT, you call it "tobacco," Fritz, you call it "tabak," Tommy, you call it "baccy," so suppose, in the interests of neutrality, we all call it VELVET.

WHEN you ask for pipe tobacco, you too, can't do better than "call it VELVET."

Fragrance, "body," true tobacco taste, slow-burning—those are the qualities you want in your pipe. But have you had the good fortune to find them in a mild tobacco?

You will find them in VELVET, the mildest, the smoothest, the coolest of smoking tobaccos.

For all the well-known excellences of Kentucky's Burley de Luxe are incorporated in VELVET, with that particular aged-in-the-wood mellowness which belongs only to VELVET.
