EX-STUDENTS OF U. ACTIVE

UNION COUNTY LIST IS LONG ONE

Men and Women Once Students in Many Walks.

Among the substantial citizens of Union county are many graduates and former students of the University of Oregon. A list of the same has been compiled by Charles Dundore and is published in the Alumni section of the Oregon Emerald, a university paper.

L. J. Davis was for many years a successful attorney of Union and is now a resident of Portland where he has charge of an adjustment and collection agency.

Marion F. Davis, 1890, is one of the oldest graduates of the University now living in Union county. Mr. Davis was formerly postmaster at Union, but is now engaged in the real estate and insurance business. In fraternal circles Mr. Davis ranks high. He has recently held the office of Supreme Representative of the Knights of Pythias, and attended the last convention of the Supreme lodge which was held at Winnipeg, Canada. Judge B. F. Wilson, also of Union, was a former student at the University. Mr. Wilson for a long time held the office of County Judge of this county, but is now engaged in practicing law at Union and is also interested in farming.

Other former students and graduates of the University now located in Union are: George O. Goodall, of the class of 1902, Margaret Bannard Goodall, of the class of 1904, who is now teaching in the Union high school; Elizabeth Crockett, who attended the University in 1910, and who is now teaching domestic science in the Union high school, and Aubrey G. Smith, superintendent of the Union schools.

At La Grande are many graduates and former students. Turner Oliver, who is known not only as the largest, but also as one of the most able members of the Oregon bar, was a student at the University in the eighties.

James D. Slater, who has served as mayor of La Grande, is a former student and a brother of Woodson Slater, former president of the Alumni association; and of Mrs. Bertha Slater-Smith, formerly assistant to Dr. Luella Clay Carson in the department of English Composition at the University. Mr. Slater was an uncle of Miss May Neill, '16; of Mrs. Eva Neill Martin. Will Neill, '12, in the employ of the Portland Railroad commission, and James Neill, '10, an electrician in Portland, are from La Grande, and are also nephews of Mr. Slater.

J. R. Oliver, abstractor, was a student in the early days. Herbert R. Hanns, '96, has for many years been court reporter for Union and Willows counties.

Howard Davis, '98, and Elmon W. Logan, Medical School, 1909, are in the real estate and insurance business at La Grande. Mrs. Alice McKinlay Miller, '03, sister of Dr. Arthur P. McKinlay, head of the Department of Foreign Languages in the Portland high schools, is the wife of William Miller, head of the firm of William Miller and Brother, real estate dealers.

George W. Gilbert, '99, has been in business at La Grande for several years, and for some time past has been the proprietor of Cherry's New Laundry.

Edward Doak Jasper, '06, is a farmer and hog raiser at La Grande and Alice.

Pearl Huff, '10, spends her summers with her parents at La Grande, but for several years past, has been a member of the faculty of the high school at Rupert, Idaho. Other members of the class of 1910, living at La Grande, are Joel H. Richardson and Wilfred C. Wattenburg. Mr. Richardson took his degree of L. L. D. from the Harvard Law school in 1913, and then entered the office of Turner Oliver. Mr. Richardson now has his office in the Sommer block. Mr. Wattenburg was married last July to Miss Vera K. Loeffel. At that time he was stationed at Enterprise. He has since moved to La Grande, where he is in the employ of the O.-W. R. & N. Co. Mr. and Mrs. Wattenburg live at 2110 Oak street.

Benjamin W. Grout, '11, was one of the first of the new generation of students at the University. Mr. Grout was graduated in 1911. After teaching for some time in Washington, he became head of the Department of Manual Training at the Hood River high school. Mr. Grout, with his wife and infant son, Benjamin III, spent the summer at the home of Benjamin Grout, Sr., near La Grande.

Miss Naomi Williamson, '11, a graduate of the Emerson School of Oratory, in the class of 1913, is head of the Department of Oral English in the Eugene high school. Miss Williamson, who is the daughter of John T. Williamson, abstractor, spent the summer with her parents at La Grande, and with her brothers, Joe and Lowell at Durkee. The Williamson boys are former students of the University. They are farming a section of land, which they acquired under the homestead act.

Sara S. Riddle, 1912, teaches in the Alice high school. Her sister, Mildred Riddle, '15, is teaching near Oregon City. These ladies, when at home, live on a strawberry farm in May Park, a suburb of La Grande. For obvious reasons their home is a pleasant place for alumni reunions in strawberry season.

Minnie Holman, '13, is at the University of Chicago working toward her master's degree in mathematics. Miss Holman taught in La Grande for two years.

Byron Goodall, now in government employ, was for several years a resident of La Grande. Earl Kilpatrick, '09, entered the University from La Grande in 1906. He is now a member of the extension division of the University of Oregon.

Thomas L. Williams, '02, head bookkeeper in the Ladd and Bush bank in Salem, is a graduate of La Grande high school, and was employed in the Farmer's and Trader's bank in La Grande before accepting his present position in Salem. Following his brother's example and advice Ray Williams came to the University of Oregon. He was graduated in 1914 and is now in the employ of the American Express company at La Grande.

Roy Curry is in business at La Grande. Joseph L. Ingie, ex-'15, was
