TWENTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Note—It should be remembered that the following are not current news reports but are items from old newspaper files of twenty-four years ago.

Mrs. J. D. McKennon has been very sick for several days with fever.

F. K. Remington has completed putting up 500 tons of ice at Ore Dell.

The Union Republican complains of inefficient service in transporting passengers to and from the Union depot.

The Democrat of Baker City has received a report that elk are very plentiful on Upper Burnt river, a band of 500 having been seen in one herd.

Thos. A. Edison is quoted in a New York dispatch of Jan. 31 as saying: "I think that electricity will play such a part in war when the time comes as shall make gunpowder and dynamite go sit in humble security in company with the obsolete arrowhead and call him brother."

The threatened trouble between the United States and the Republic of Chili has entirely disappeared, and the relations of the two governments may now be considered as entirely amicable. On Monday the president submitted to congress a full report of the Baltimore affair and a suitable apology has come from the Republic of Chili and all matters suggestive of present or future hostilities between the two governments have been dropped.

Oliver's sawmill, two miles north of Summerville, was the scene of quite an accident last Saturday, says the Elgin Recorder. Jo Woods who lives on the Flat had gone home with Arthur Oliver who lives at the mill. They put the team in a shed and while doing so the roof broke down from the weight of snow. A piece of timber broke one of the horse's necks and the other horse was so badly injured that it died in a few minutes. Mr. Wood's head was caught under the timber in the same manner in which the horses were caught and the only reason he escaped was because the horses necks were thicker than his own and he was thus relieved of the weight which fell upon the team.

HOGS ON GRAIN FARM.

The first grain farmers in California, and this is true almost everywhere, kept cropping the land in the same way year after year, mostly with shallow plowing. They quit with plenty of money, but left their children with land that was exhausted—not lacking its plant food, but exhausted for the time being. The new generation of grain farmers have to work the land in some other way, both to restore fertility and to make a living in the process. Stock is the natural method.

George W. Beckman, of Lodi, one breeder, is raising his hogs according to method that will both be profitable and bring back the land to its old richness. The system is to grow the grain and feed it off where grown.

There are 225 acres on the ranch. This is some alfalfa, used for the hogs, but most is farmed to barley, with alternate cropping. One year in two the land is seeded. The second year the volunteer growth is pastured.

The barley is cut with reaper and left as it falls. The hogs are turned in the field and left to get at the grain. There is much less waste this way than there would be to turn the hogs into standing grain. They get good exercise going here and there and by the time they have gotten all the good out of the grain they have scattered straw evenly all over and tramped it down so that it makes the finest kind of fertilizer. What grain they miss sprouts during the winter and makes first class pasture. They have alfalfa to supplement this feed and some skim milk from the cows. The barley is made better use of than it would be if fed from the sack and harvesting is saved, there is a good profit from the hogs, or from the whole system, and while the ranch is going along on a well paying basis, the soil by the cropping, the manure and the returning of the straw, is recovering its original fertility.

Chinese Princess' Politics

Illinois State Journal: It is said that the speech of the little Chinese princess, Miss Jue Quon Tai, who is now traveling in this country, needs censoring. She has acquired, it seems, a precocious aptitude for American slang.

But those who would censure Miss Jue for her language can hardly do so for her ideas.

When she was asked, "Do you think there is any chance of your country becoming a monarchy?" she replied "All the chance in the world. The royal party has all the money."

Where's the wise diplomat with deeper political insight?

FALLS FROM HAYLOAD.

Charles Hutchinson of North Powder Badly Bruised by Tumble.

North Powder, Jan. 22.—(Special)—Charlie Hutchinson who lives out in the country three miles from town had a bad fall recently. He fell from a load of hay and struck on his head and shoulders. He was severely bruised and shaken up by the fall and has had work to get around. He was fortunate in not sustaining some fatal injury from the way which he fell from the load of hay.
