EPLING HOME FIRE DAMEGED

HALLWAY AND STAIRS ARE CHARRED MASS

Application of Chemicals Proves Sufficient and Saves Several Rooms

Chemicals as a fire-fighting tool was given the acid test yesterday evening and found not wanting when a stubborn blaze in the F. A. Epling home at the head of Fourth street was conquered without the use of water. Because chemicals alone were used, repapering will restore the original worth and looks of all rooms in the house save two, and a stairway. The fire had started spontaneously, probably, and although Mrs. Epling smelled burning rags she attributed it to some discarded clothing she had burned in the heater. As a matter of fact clothing in a closet under the stairway in the hall was responsible. Finally she discovered smoke and called the department. Shortly the hallway ywas a seething mass of flames, and the explosion of gases blew open the front door and hallway window the moment Firemen Mackey and Sweifel approached to investigate what appeared to be a smouldering fire. They escaped injury except for some badly blistered hands.

The chemicals conquered the fire and of course did damage to wall-paper in other rooms. The front hallway was badly charred and several windows broken. The home was insured.

The Grain Bag Situation

It now appears that whether or not they so desire, farmers of the valley will have bulk grain handling forced upon them this year, says the Walla Walla Bulletin. Bags are scarce, and almost unobtainable right now. Some dealers say there will not be half enough to contain the crop of the valley this year and that the greater part of the wheat must be shipped in bulk. There seems to be no real cause for grief in the situation, however, for it will merely hasten the change from bags to bulk. Farmers will have to build bins and elevators because they cannot get sacks; and they won't have to pay the cost of the sacks or of the

There are other factors to be taken into consideration; the cost of the grain, the cost of the terminal, and the cost of other things. When the matter is assigned, it appears that the average sacks is one of the mighty few things that has resulted from the war. At any rate, it will be a trial of bulk shipment, and if it is not the best way to handle grain, those who believe it is will be convinced. And if bags must be used—which appears highly improbable—there is strong hope that the straw fabric will become perfected within another year so that the straw of the valley can be utilized and the bags brought to a reasonable price.
