RAILROAD FILM COMES

ARCADE ANNOUNCES SPECIAL WEEKLY FEATURE.

Four-Day Service of Paramounts Also Provided for.

The Arcade management makes the announcement that they have secured for the special entertainment of their railroad patrons and the general public the most thrilling and exciting railroad story ever produced, "The Girl and the Game," featuring Helen Holmes. This picture will be shown each Wednesday and Thursday of each week commencing February 9th and 10th. This picture is not a serial, each chapter being complete.

Firm believers in giving the public the best pictures in the market the management has contracted for four days' service of the Paramount Famous Players. For Monday and Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, Sunday's change will be a star feature capped with a rattling comedy. Thus giving their patrons one of the finest programs that it is possible to obtain.

Parent-Teachers Meeting.

The January meeting of the Parent-Teachers association will be held at the Central school Friday afternoon. The members are very anxious for parents to be present at this meeting as it is felt certain that there will be mutual profit and interest to all who attend.

call at the store and that evening as she is leaving he confronts her and threatens to have her discharged unless she will go with him. Desperate for fear she will lose this place she reluctantly agrees. At the time Winne had called upon Faxon, Bertha was present and had taken a violent dislike to the girl because Faxon had seemed to take an interest in her. A slight misunderstanding arose between Bertha and Faxon because of this. Thus the story is started, and its consummation, ending as it does in a happy way, will be shown at the Arcade theatre Thursday.—Adv

IMPROVEMENTS IN POOL HALL

ROOMING HOUSE FACILITIES PROVIDED.

Cigar and Pool Hall Emporium Made Over Considerably.

J. F. O'Connell has been making a number of changes in his business property at the corner of Depot and Jefferson streets. Since prohibition became effective he has removed the partitions that formed the bar room on Jefferson street and included that in his billiard and pool room, giving more light and more space for the tables.

In changing from a rooming house to a hotel he has arranged a very comfortable lobby or the Depot street side. The front is all of glass and inside the arrangement is decidedly comfortable and hotel like. The "hot dog" window of Charley Miller remains in the same location and just opposite it is a large soda fountain, while running almost across the lobby is an extended cigar case. Behind the case are shelves containing smokers' goods. Entrance to the billiard room is between the cigar cases and the short order window.

The whole interior has been gone over and retinted and brightened. Upstairs the process of re-arrangement has continued and general improvement has been made.

REAL PHILANTHROPY.

Gripping Story Will Be Pictured at Arcade of Love and Intrigue.

Philanthropy takes many forms, but that which accomplishes the greatest good is the philanthropy which aids the less fortunate to improve their self respect. Money given for libraries and art museums does a few persons good, but assistance given to those in dire need which directs them on an upward path has a much wider effect as the result in thousandfold, as it teaches the recipient of aid to assist others.

That form of philanthropy is the kind possessed by Marshall Faxon in the Gold Seal drama "As the Shadows Fall." Marshall Faxon is a philanthropist and in order to carry out his work is in charge of the Municipal Employment Bureau. In this position he comes in contact with the seamy side of life and is thus enabled to give much needed assistance to those who really deserve same. His fiancée, Bertha Winston is a society girl. She does not like the idea of Faxon associating with what she thinks is the lower class and she finally remonstrates with him for taking such an interest in the work. To try and better understand his work she calls on him at the office, but is not able to be of any benefit to him.

Winnie Perry, a hard-working stenographer, is persecuted by the attentions of Eddie Winston. She does not know Winston's real name and in order to force his attentions upon the girl Winston succeeds in having her discharged from different positions. The girl is penniless and is forced to accept Eddie's attentions to a certain extent. One day a friend gives her a card of the Municipal Employment Bureau and tells her that Faxon is a friend indeed to the poorer people and will doubtless help her out of her troubles. She calls upon Faxon telling of her trouble and persecution and he readily agrees to assist her. She is given a note to the manager of a large store and secures a position as a stenographer. Eddie has seen her

SHOW CHIEFS NOW SELECTED

EFFICIENT CORPS TO MEASURE BABIES.

Big Committee List Is Prepared by Chairman in Charge of Show.

A complete list of principals and assistants to manage the Eugenics contests next week in conjunction with the state meeting of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' associations, has been announced here. Mrs. A. L. Richardson, chairman of the local committee, and Mrs. Fred G. Schilke, a Mothers' Congress state vice president, have worked out the chief details, and the list of committees now selected has been announced by Mrs. Richardson as follows:

Superintendent in charge, Mrs. A. Bayly, of Portland, recognized eugenics contests conductor and authority.

Inspecting physicians for morning hours, Drs. G. L. Biggers, R. E. L. Holt, C. H. Upton, Dora Underwood and M. K. Hall.

Afternoon physicians, Drs. C. T. Bacon, J. P. Graham, H. L. Underwood, A. L. Richardson and H. M. Bouvy.

Mental testers, Mrs. John Thiesen, morning, Mrs. Stella Ingle, afternoon. Both of these are qualified for the position by previous kindergarten experience.

Dentists, for morning, Drs. C. B. Cauthorn and W. D. McMillan; afternoon, Drs. E. P. Mossman and H. S. Brownston.

Weights, Dr. Margaret Ingle, in the morning and Mrs. Claude Seranton, afternoon.

Scoring committee, morning, Mrs. A. R. Hunter, Mrs. Archie Bacon and Mrs. L. A. McAllister. Afternoon, Mrs. J. K. Wright, Mrs. G. M. Byrket and Mrs. C. P. Ferrin. This committee will be in session during the contest, thus reaching final conclusions earlier.

Secretaries, Mrs. T. J. Seroggin, morning, and Mrs. D. M. Clark, afternoon.

The ages eligible are from six months to five years. The date is Friday, all day, but Mrs. Bayly will be at the library Thursday, Friday and Saturday when mothers can consult her at will.

Is It the Campaign Hat?

Nolan Skiff, of the land office and a prominent Democrat of Eastern Oregon, appeared a few days ago with a tremendously large white hat. While it is really becoming to him, according to the opinion of many the guess is going around as to its significance to campaign year. Some argue that Nolan has had a tip from the front as to what kind of headgear the Democrats purpose wearing this year and is now getting the people used to what will be common wearing apparel for the followers of Woodrow next fall.

Women's Feet Growing

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—Feet are growing larger, and then some. Boot-makers have statistics to prove it; chiropodists bear witness to it, and a canvass of the leading shoe merchants in the city places the fact beyond the shadow of a doubt. That is, the American woman's feet are larger; nobody has taken the time or trouble to determine the statue of the American man's pedal extremities. Nobody seems to care.

But the Manufacturers who have spent a lifetime in the production of women's footwear are deploring the fact that if things keep on, the English women will have to relinquish the palm for large feet to their American sisters. They hold outdoor exercising and the high heel responsible. "Women no longer demand shoes a size smaller than their feet," said one dealer in women's shoes yesterday. "But 99 women out of 100 insist on shoes with the French heel. With the heel raised on the front of the foot necessarily spreads and demands a wider shoe. Women walk more now than their mothers did, and that has a tendency to increase the size of the foot. "However, American women will always be noted for their becoming footgear. They have never been so particular as now to obtain a shoe cut to fit the foot exactly. Shoe lines all tend to make the foot appear smaller, without exactly cramping it. Also women visit the chiropodist more frequently and keep their feet in better condition. There is no doubt but that our women are fast becoming the best shoed in the world, even if the size of their shoes has advanced somewhat."
