SNODGRASS

WILL MOVE

IS TO TAKE FOLEY BUILDING STORE SOON.

Is to Move in Where Co-Operative Store is Moving Out of Now.

The J. G. Snodgrass grocery store is to move into the Gangloff building now being vacated by the Oregon Co-Operative company. The "Co-ops" are moving out now to occupy the Gardiner building adjoining the Arcade theatre, and it will probably be a week before Mr. Snodgrass begins to move his shelves and equipment. The task is a big one and will entail much work.

"By the time we get shifted about in our new quarters we expect to have the finest grocery store in Eastern Oregon," said Mr. Snodgrass today in announcing definitely his plans to move. "The new store room is amply large, the windows are up to date, and when our stock is moved in and arranged, we will have no hesitancy in saying that our store will be as attractive as any in the up-state district."

A long period of time has been put in the grocery business in the Steward building. Mr. Snodgrass began to learn the business with E. E. Romig in the place now occupied by the Harris Art store. This was 17 years ago. Shortly after that Mr. Romig moved to the Huntington block and from there back to the Steward building and formed the partnership of Grandy & Romig. This was 14 years ago. Staples & Romig succeeded the former firm, and eight years ago Mr. Snodgrass took over the business himself. Hence a 14-year term of business will have been concluded in one house when the move takes place.

"I shall use the mezzanine floor in the new quarters partly for rest rooms for shoppers and patrons," announced Mr. Snodgrass today. "This will afford conveniences long needed and we expect to make this feature attractive and convenient, even though the cost be considerable."

Removal Completed. The Co-operative store is now opened for business in its new quarters. Though not quite completed in minute details, the store opened for business this morning in its new quarters.

Investigation as to Cause of the Otay Dam Disaster.

San Diego, Jan. 31.—The grand jury will probe the Otay dam disaster the prosecuting attorney stated today noon.

One more body was recovered late this morning, making a total of twelve thus far recovered. Earlier statements that a hundred have been drowned in the San Diego floods are believed to be untrue. The exact number of deaths will not be determined until the coroner reports.

Gold Fish Have Brains.

Marion, Jan. 31.—Edwin P. Haughton, local natural scientist, today informed the world that goldfish have brains. Haughton owns an aquarium of trained goldfish which he says he has educated from a naturally low mentality to a high state of intellectuality, thereby proving that goldfish have brains if one just takes the trouble to develop 'em. Haughton has trained his goldfish to answer the dinner bell. When he rings, the fish dart to the surface, their mouths wide open, for their daily feed. Haughton's aquarium is made of concrete, 12 feet in diameter and several feet in depth. In the course of a long period of instruction, Haughton says, the fish were taught to come to the surface in summer and to a hole in the ice in winter, by the ringing of a tiny bell. This is one of many evidences of mentality that Haughton says the fishes show.

SONGS FROM THE PACIFIC

PEERLESS HAWAIIANS TO BE AT "Y" TONIGHT.

Entertainment Begins at 8:45 to Give All a Chance.

A musical treat is in store for the music lovers of La Grande, with the coming of the Peerless Hawaiian Players and Singers. The company has played in nearly all of the principal cities in the west, and have just finished a two evenings engagement at Pendleton where they had a crowded house both evenings. Their singing is first class, and the instrumental music is in a class by itself. The Hawaiian music is full of sympathetic harmony, and when rendered by the natives themselves, is beautiful in the extreme. Through the numbers that are rendered they take one, as it were, to the island amid the palms, and there teach us something of the nature and of the land in which they live. The entertainment will start in the Y. M. C. A. about eight forty-five, giving the farmers a chance to attend after their meeting this evening. The proceeds of the evenings' entertainment are to go to the gym fund of the Y. M. C. A. for the buying of new equipment. The public is urged to give the Y. M. C. A. their best support, and to thus have a most enjoyable evening. The prices: School children 25c; Adults 50c.

ANOTHER RAID SUNDAY.

Paris Feels Second Attack from the Sky—More Meet Their Death.

Paris, Jan. 31.—More damage was done Saturday night when bombs killed 26 and injured 32, than occurred when a fresh raid broke out at 11 o'clock last night.

Ten incendiary bombs were dropped. Six of these fell in open field of suburbs and the other exploded harmlessly. Newspapers demanded reprisals and renewed warnings of fresh Zeppelin attacks. Experts believe the raids Saturday and last night were reconnoitering expeditions.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Ambassador Sharp has reported that Sunday night's Zeppelin raid on Paris covered a small but populous portion of the city. It is reported 10 were killed and 20 injured. No bombs fell near the American embassy.

COLLEGE OPENS.

come to La Grande to serve the people of Eastern Oregon in the fight for better agricultural practices, more effective marketing facilities, more healthful and more happy homes, better care of our children, better schools and a more wholesome community life. We are here to assist—not to dictate. We believe that we have a fund of information gathered through years of careful experimentation and observation that will be of real value to the farmer and the home-maker. And we realize that the earnest intelligent people of this great country also have acquired, through years of experience, a fund of useful information. It is not our purpose, therefore, to dictate what you shall do or what you shall not do, but rather to contribute our share to the common fund of information which is available for all and from which each may draw as his or her judgment may dictate.

"The College in all of its work is created and maintained to serve the people of the state. It has no other purpose and no other excuse for existence. Those of us who are in the service of the College therefore have but a single interest to serve the people of Oregon. The College has three functions—that of experimentation and investigation which is carried on through the experiment stations; that of resident instruction for the young people who come to the campus; and that of extension which is designed to serve the people of the state who cannot go to the campus. It is this last feature of the work that brings us here at this time.

"We cannot do as much as we want to do for each community because the state is large and our force is comparatively small. Our full force could spend a year in this county and not do all that there is to be done. But there are 34 other counties to be assisted and so we are compelled to limit our assistance much more rigidly than we desire.

"Last year the extension force met in public meetings and in personal conference more than 110,000 persons. We published 201,000 copies of bulletins, we instructed 12,000 boys and girls through our club work, we cooperated with hundreds of farmers in working out their individual and community problems through our county agents, we furnished helpful information to the press for the benefit of its readers, we offered instruction through educational exhibits, we judged and demonstrated at the county fairs. In short, there are few communities in this state that did not directly or indirectly share our service.

"We are always glad to work in Union county. Your good people have always welcomed us and helped us, and helped us to help you and we hope that this basis of co-operation may continue to the advantage of your county and yourselves."

Mrs. George Gilbert, president of the La Grande Neighborhood club which with the Commercial club has shouldered the local end of the preliminary work, touched upon personal experience she enjoyed when, on her return from the Philippine Islands a number of years ago, she attended a short course, something like this, at Corvallis. She spoke of how the plan appealed to her, and predicted splendid success for the work here. In a few well chosen words she then welcomed the delegations to La Grande hoping all would benefit and profit by the short course offered here.

Miss Anna Turley responded for the guests in a very happy vein outlining something of the work to be done during the week.

All in all it was a happy and felicitious afternoon, presaging a grand week.
