DEATH CLAIMS WM. T. CURREY

WAS WELL KNOWN PIONEER OF EASTERN OREGON.

Funeral Will Be Held in La Grande Tomorrow Afternoon.

William T. Currey, one of the pioneers of the Northwest of 1850, died Sunday forenoon, at Imbler where he has made his home for the past seven years, following an illness of only a few days.

"Uncle Billie," as he was generally known has been a resident of this county for the past thirty years. It has been stated that his father, Providence Currey, who was the original homesteader of the farm near La Grande now owned by E. E. Groat, taught the first school in the county. During the Indian war of 1878 he was special messenger for Gen. O. O. Howard and was specially complimented for his services. His superior horsemanship and general knowledge of the country was of great value to the commander.

William Currey was 78 years of age. A brother at Lakeview, a sister, Mrs. S. G. Benson of San Jose, and a sister, Mrs. Ashley of Weiser, and a sister Mrs. McCain of Indiana, survive him. His only immediate relatives in this county are Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Currey and Geo. H. Currey. Services will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the J. C. Henry Chapel and the interment will take place in the I. O. O. F. cemetery along side of his father, and brother, the late Col. Geo. B. Currey.

AT SHERRY'S TODAY.

Wm. Farnum Appears in "The Broken Law."

Suppose that you loved a very beautiful girl who turned a disdainful eye upon you because she believed you guilty of a heinous sin. Suppose that you finally convinced her of your guiltlessness, took her in your arms and kissed her. Suppose that in doing so, however, an unclashed brooch on her bosom thrust its sharp point against one of your ribs. What would you do? Would you break? Or would you stay in the clench as did William Farnum, who is playing the lead in William Fox' masterful photo-drama, "The Broken Law?"

In one scene of "The Broken Law" Mr. Farnum, as a gypsy, makes passionate love to Isabel, a wealthy English girl. During the enactment of the scene, a silver pin on Isabel's dress became unfastened. When Mr. Farnum enveloped Isabel in a bear-like embrace, the point of the pin penetrated Mr. Farnum's chest for no small distance.

Instead of altering his facial expression and thereby spoiling a picture that it had required weeks to get, Mr. Farnum betrayed not the slightest physical indication of pain. When the camera was stopped upon the completion of the scene, he nonchalantly removed the pin. See Farnum today at Sherry's.

STOCK LOSS REPORT.

Cattle Dying on Snake River in Northern Wallowa.

Enterprise, July 7.—Cattle are dying on the Snake river in northern Wallowa county but in the Wallowa valley the winter is not much more severe than usual and there is hay for sale there.

On Snake river many stockmen have been relying on the winter ranges and they are short of feed. The ground is covered with two feet of snow and the losses are certain to be considerable. Some cattle have been lost through slides and through falling over cliffs, obscured by the heavy snowdrifts.

At Enterprise good hay is now said to be for sale at from $14 to $16 per ton. Recently some second grade hay was sold in the stack at $10 per ton.

There have been no losses of sheep or cattle thus far in the Wallowa valley.

SIDESPLITTING ANTICS.

Unique Picture Filmed in Replica of Occurrence in Past Generation.

Replete with comical situations and a mass of laughable complications, "Jane," the Morosco-Paramount Picture, is most effectively turned into a model film comedy at which those who believe film fun possible without the slapstick point with pride. In the title part of the maid, Charlotte Greenwood, displays her side-splitting antics with remarkable result and is ably supported by her partner, Sidney Grant, who is an excellent foil for her comedy. A splendid supporting cast includes Forrest Stanley, Myrtle Steadman, Howard Davies, Herbert Standing, Syd de Grey and Lydia Yenmans Titus. The play has been staged under the direction of Frank Lloyd, who has gone to particular pains and expense to give this subject the desired atmosphere. As an instance, in staging the film he presents the first solid oak set ever built for a motion picture on the Pacific Coast, built-in cabinets, moulding, etc., are of quarter-sawn oak throughout. The set comprises five rooms and is the most elaborate piece of construction Mr. Morosco ever put in production, stage or screen. The paneling alone took over 1,000 square feet of oak.

This picture comes to the Arcade tonight and tomorrow.—Adv.

INSTITUTE DRAWS WELL

TEACHERS BRAVE STORMS TO BE PRESENT.

Outlined Schedule Switched and Visiting Staff Chief Speakers.

Sixty-two grade and high school teachers from La Grande, North Powder, Kamela, Hilgard, Perry, Island City and Fruitdale and elsewhere were assembled Saturday afternoon in this city to attend the local Teachers' institute. Due to conditions which existed, plans were suddenly switched, and the O. A. C. extension staff took hold, largely, of the program and teachers from this vicinity who had papers prepared, withheld them for future reading. The change was agreeable all around. Mrs. A. E. Ivanhoe, county school superintendent, deemed it wise to leave the program to the extension team. Miss Turley spoke first, enjoying the chance to speak to teachers rather than to housewives as is her custom, and the listeners enjoyed the treat too. Other speakers from O. A. C. were Paul Maris, County Farm Expert Spillman, J. E. Larsen and Prof. Pitts. Mrs. Thomas Lowe, a prominent club and Parent-Teacher association worker of Malheur county, had come to La Grande to attend the meeting of her club, which meeting was postponed, and Mrs. Ivanhoe took advantage of the fact and put her on the program, to the satisfaction of all.

The institute adjourned in time to allow art students time to attend the art lectures at 4 o'clock. "The institute was a very profitable one, notwithstanding that many teachers couldn't come," said Mrs. Ivanhoe in speaking of the meeting.

Obituary.

Milo Homer Stoll was born at Mechanicsville, Iowa, Feb. 18, 1877, died at Pendleton, Oregon, Jan. 17, 1916. He came to Oregon about 12 years ago. Was known and respected by nearly every rancher in the Grande Ronde valley.

He had been at Adams about eight years. He and an older brother ran a cigar store in Adams for a few years, but was lately employed on the Woodward ranch. He had suffered with walking typhoid fever all summer and fall which eventually developed into tuberculosis. He was unmarried. Leaves a mother, Mrs. Martha Stoll of Adams, two brothers, Ira H. of Adams, Oregon, Cherm G. of Los Angeles, four sisters Mrs. W. C. Rhoads, of Anita, Iowa; Mrs. Elizabeth Sutfin, of Hiko, Nevada; Mrs. E. C. Field of Ladd Canyon and Mrs. L. Smith of Pleasant Valley, Oregon.

them being reached on schedule. Witnesses are in many cases unable to reach the city, jurors are hard pressed to come to the county capitol, and there is generally a seeming disposition on the part of the elements to hinder smooth progress of the early part of the term. Even as late as this morning one of the big cases set down for trial this term reached the point where an application for delay had to be filed. It pertains to the Mt. Emily timber company case against the O.-W. for damages. On account of excessive snow it is impossible to cruise the timber area embraced in litigation. It is expected that several cases will thus have to go over.

Row in Ohio Over Censoring Film.

Columbus, O., Feb. 7.—Ohio state movie censors, backed by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, today were in Federal court here to defend their stand in barring the exhibition in Ohio of the film play "The Birth of a Nation."

Producers of the picture, which depicts the South in Civil War and reconstruction days, have sued for a restraining order preventing censors interfering with the exhibition of the film in Ohio movie theatres.

The picture has been shown in every state of the union except Ohio. Censors first rejected the film two months ago at the suggestion of Governor Frank B. Willis to whom protests had been made by civil war veterans, patriotic and negro organizations. Movie exhibitors and film company men claim Willis suppressed the film for political purposes.

Producers offered to make forty-four changes in the picture, eliminating "objectionable scenes." Pressure was brought to bear on officials and the film was resubmitted.

Attorney General Turner reviewed the film with the censors and followed their second rejection of the picture with a vigorous statement attacking it as an "insult to the north" and a "contemptible distortion of history."

The President and Mrs. Wilson will be guests of the Congressional club at a St. Valentine's party, Monday February 14. Decorations will be in keeping with the spirit of the day. The bouquet to be presented by the club to Mrs. Wilson will be an old-fashioned nosegay in a paper lace holder, such as the gallant of long ago presented to his lady love on this sentimental anniversary. Only club members will be invited to this affair, and the list of guests is to be submitted to the President for approval. Secret service men will search the clubhouse before the arrival of the President and will remain during the reception.

Invitations are being issued for a reception by the Congressional club for Vice President and Mrs. Marshall and Secretary and Mrs. Lansing to be held Feb. 22.

Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois who has traveled extensively in China, Japan and the Philippines, will give a stereopticon entertainment and travel lecture at the Congressional club early in March. He has a rare collection of pictures taken on his eastern trip.

A pleasant reception was given by the ladies of the Congressional club Friday, Feb. 4, in honor of visiting members of the Young Women's Christian association who held their jubilee in Washington.

Mrs. John F. Shafroth of Colorado, chairman of the entertainment committee, presided. At the conclusion of the program Mrs. Atlee Pomerene, president of the club, presented the club members to the visitors.

Assisting during the social hour were: Mrs. T. E. Crapo of Pennsylvania, Mrs. L. C. Cramton of Michigan, Mrs. W. A. Cullop of Indiana, Mrs. A. J. Grouna of North Dakota, Mrs. F. E. Cuernsey of Maine, Mrs. F. L. Green of Vermont, Mrs. J. P. Glynn of Connecticut, Mrs. W. C. Houston of Tennessee, Mrs. Joseph Howell of Utah, Mrs. William Hughes of New Jersey, also:
