MEASURES OF ECONOMY

These are the times when railroads are obliged to adopt measures of economy for the regulation of rates and hours of employment, the advance in the price of materials and other items of operating and maintenance expenses having forced them to look to saving through conservation. Instead of piling up old freight cars and applying the torch, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is trying the experiment of reclaiming the lumber and metal parts of worn-out equipment and utilizing this salvage in countless ways which unfold themselves in the operation of a property of this size. Reclaimed lumber is resawed and planed until the outside defects are removed, then it is cut into smaller sizes and shipped from point to point over the road for use in repair work, in the erection of small buildings, platforms etc.

The mechanical department estimates that the saving effected by the dismantling of cars in this manner amounts to $20 a car, which reaches a big total when it is remembered that hundreds of cars go out of service every year.

When there is no immediate use for the reclaimed material it is stored, and it is estimated by an official of the road that from $50,000 to $75,000 should be saved. At least the management is so impressed with what the experiments have shown that a large reclamation plant has been established at Zanesville, Ohio, where the old cars are collected and demolished. Old piling and bridge timbers as well as ties are treated with this economy medicine, and the useful life of the lumber is thus prolonged. From the savings of the Ohio plant the company recently constructed a fruit-loading platform at Keyser, W. Va., 90 feet long, and enlarged the facilities at a refrigerating plant at Cumberland Md., lengthening it to 300 feet for the accommodation of ten cars at one time.

At the Zanesville plant considerable saving machinery has been installed, so confident is the management of the road that the scheme will prove an important economy. This is used to cut bridge timbers into boards that can be used for flooring in freight houses and other places where it is not important that the material should be new.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.
