Columnrle Fouly Assaulted.

Dopetown, Ind., Feb. 17.—Clubbed into insensibility with the new patent egg beater he was taking home to his wife, Danagreely Columnrle, editor of the Dopetown Evening Headache, was found by friends under the railroad culvert east of town early today. Columnrle's assailant has not been apprehended, but August Schmitz, the local saloonkeeper, is being shadowed by the constable. Dopetown will go dry May 1 and Schmitz is known to have threatened violence to Columnrle because Columnrle, a staunch prohibitionist, printed the following comment on the wet and dry election: "The first of May this year will be the last of August."

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat and take a glass of Salts to flush out Kidneys—Drink plenty water.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

COUNTY AGENT FARMER'S AGENT

POSSIBILITIES ARE GREATER THROUGH CO-OPERATION.

Three Chief Essentials Govern Educational Efforts.

BY PAUL H. SPILLMAN. (County Agent for Union County.)

The county agent movement while not entirely new to people that have kept themselves posted on agricultural affairs, still it is of comparatively recent origin. Beginning in the South when the cotton bowl weevil was fast putting the cotton crops out of commission, the movement has spread both North and West, until we have at the present time some eleven hundred county agents in the United States. Never in the history of agriculture has any movement for the betterment of agriculture and the farm home spread with such rapidity. Never has a movement of this nature received so few backsets. It has filled or is fast filling that long felt want that lacking something that has existed between the farm and science, ever since scientific agriculture came into being.

Ever since the agricultural colleges and experiment stations have come into being, they have been accumulating much agricultural information that would mean the solving of many of the farm problems that now are stumbling blocks to those who must take their living from the soil. The problem has been to get this knowledge to the farmer in a form that will be of use to him. Often what appears on the printed page to be unapplicable or out of the question for the ordinary farmer, is but a comparatively simple matter. These facts must be so placed before the farmer that he can see where in they apply to his conditions and further, where in the solution offered will be of ultimate benefit to him. It has that there is no better medium to get this information before the farmer than through the personal contact between the people on the land and the County Agent, he being in a position to point out to them where in these investigations apply to their conditions, and how and to what extent the remedy offered will apply under their conditions.

Secondly the county agent is a medium through which successful agricultural practice within the county may be brought to others under similar conditions within that county.

Thirdly, the County Agent is trying wherever possible to help the farmers do collectively what they cannot do individually. To help in the organization of a community in fighting various pests, or securing better livestock, or of better buying and selling. In other words, it is the County Agent's object to help the farmers to help themselves.

But let it be remembered, that the farmers can not do it all neither can the County Agent do it all; we must strike a happy medium, and that is co-operate.

WILSON WANTS MARSHALL

President Said to Desire Hoosier as Running-Mate Again

New York, Feb. 9.—A Washington dispatch to the New York Press says: President Wilson, it was learned from a trustworthy source has issued orders to his political lieutenants to stop all talk of shelving Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, in favor of a new Vice-Presidential candidate, which means the Administration ticket in St. Louis will be that which was named in Baltimore in 1912.

Significance attaches to the President's reported instructions to his lieutenants for two reasons, first, because according to gossip here, they represent a change of views; second, the announcement reaches Democrats coincident with Wilson's return from the West. It is believed they are based on information that came to the President when on his speaking tour. Certainly it is, Democrats say, the recent attitude of men close to the President gave no information he would insist, as it now is said he does on having the Indiana man again as a running mate.

The friends of James Hamilton Lewis, United States Senator from Illinois, have been promoting a Vice-Presidential boom for him, and now reports say, without aid from White House circles. Presumably an effectual suffer will be put on the Lewis movement.

Wilson's change of heart, if it is a change of heart, is attributed to the exigencies of the Democratic situation in Indiana in part, and in part also to his conviction from what he learned on his preparedness tour that it would be a waste of time to bid for the electoral votes of Illinois.

Palmer to Lead Democratic Fight.

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—Former Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer will again lead the democratic fight in Pennsylvania during the coming presidential campaign. He took the reins following a conference here of State leaders. At the same time he announced he would again be a candidate for National Committeeman. At the conference it also was decided that either Secretary of Labor Williams B. Wilson nor E. J. Lynett, of Scranton, would be the choice for United States Senator. The conference was called to discuss the entire State democratic situation. The question of delegates to the National convention was threshed out and it was decided to appoint a steering committee to decide upon the delegates at large.
