GREEN ONION SALES BEGIN

RADISHES MAKE APPEARANCE THIS WEEK.
Sugar Advances 15 Cents Per Hundred Weight Again.
Smatterings of green onions are to have greater volume at once. A few dealers sold a dozen or so bunches Saturday but by tomorrow it is expected all dealers will handle them. Radishes too will be common tomorrow, a shipment of lower California onions and radishes being due here tomorrow.
Sugar went up 15 cents Saturday this being one of several additions to the retail price of late.
Peaches to Be Scarce.
Peaches will be scarce in the Walla Walla valley this season, is the prediction of a great many of the growers, while others find only a part of the buds frost killed, says the Milton Eagle. W. C. Hoyson of the up-river district says he failed to find any indications of fruit at all in his orchard, but a more thorough examination may show some. Fred Parr, of Crockett, says he has plenty of peaches, while Henry Groth claims that he cannot find any encouraging signs in his orchard at all.
Pruning is now going on in some of the orchards below Freewater, and the first spraying for scab and scale will begin soon as the weather is a little warmer. Inspector Hopson is trying hard to get the spray men who will do commercial work to agree on a standard of prices and quality of spray used, which if it works out should certainly make for better fruit.
The greater part of the young orchards, which have been receiving the best of care, will come into bearing this year or next.
Markets promise to be better than last year for several reasons, the principal one in this locality being better facilities. With the opening of a new concern, Demy & Company, with national connections for disposing of the crop, and with such well established agencies as the Co-operative Union, Shedd's Fruit company, and the Lamb's Fruit company, and under the same management as heretofore, it is quite likely that quicker and better results will be secured for this season than heretofore.
