AFTER MANY VEXATIOUS DELAYS THROUGH NO FAULT OF OUR OWN WE WISH TO ANNOUNCE TO THE PUBLIC

That Our Studio is Now Open for Business

We may not be as black as we are painted. Call in and get acquainted and judge for yourself.

With an equipment second to none and the experience of years in many city studios we feel that we can serve the public in a Photographic Capacity in a satisfactory manner.

Working with electric light exclusively we are entirely independent of the weather. Sittings made evenings by appointment. This is a wonderful convenience to many who are dressed for ball or party.

hostesses entertained guests for six tables at Bridge and first and second prizes at bridge went to Mrs. Vincent Palmer and Mrs. M. K. Hall. A beautiful blending of colors, green and gold, predominated in the decoration of the Poarch home for the series. A two-course luncheon was served at the conclusion of play yesterday afternoon. This afternoon the second and concluding party of the series is being given by the same hostesses. Five hundred is the game and guests for six tables are again present, and much the same scheme of decorations as existed yesterday, prevails this afternoon.

Miss Thelma Leffel and Miss Bell Dillstrom entertained the DeMachen club and their gentlemen friends yesterday evening at the Leffel home on Main street. Two courses were served amid scenes distinctly St. Patrick. A color campaign of green and white was artistically carried out, through place cards, consisting of black hats and green pipes, green streamers from chandeliers, and through the refreshments as well. Those present to enjoy the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Watenberg, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bolton, Miss Marie Bolton, Miss Ruth Day, Miss May Day, Miss Viola Benham, Messrs. Marbel Green, Jay Shaw, Gerald Pierson and Ralph Winters.

This evening these two hostesses will again entertain, the Pit & Plinch club being the guests tonight.

John Williamson of La Grande is one of those illustrious personages who can claim a birthday concurrent in the calendar with the Great St. Patrick. This being the case about twenty of his friends surprised him at his home yesterday evening with a birthday party. The surprise was complete and overwhelming, and the occasion was one long to be remembered not only by the recipient of the distinguished honor but by the participants as well. Refreshments were served including ice cream decorated with sprigs of shamrock.

On Friday evening the two branches of Woodcraft met in the Pythian hall where the Woodman of the World entertained the Women of Woodcraft. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental music, recitations and speeches was rendered, after which delicious refreshments were served by the Woodmen. At a late hour the social evening came to an end and all departed for their homes, declaring the Woodmen to be royal hosts.

Next Wednesday evening promises to be an important event for members and officers of Hope Chapter No. 13, Eastern Star. On that date the chapter will celebrate its 25th anniversary and will enjoy a visit from Mary E. Houck, worthy grand matron of Oregon. All visiting members are invited to be present. Mrs. Emma Kiddle, worthy matron, and other officers and committees of the chapter are working overtime to make this event a delightful one.

A pleasant evening was spent by the Women of Woodcraft on Wednesday evening at their lodge hall. After the regular meeting was over a short program was rendered after which refreshments were served, an day-eal hours spent in sociable Woodcraft style.

Mrs. Grace Molitor was a very charming hostess to the Lucky Thirteen club at its regular meeting this week. Mrs. C. H. Finn scored highest at cards, and following a pleasant afternoon about the tables, Mrs. Molitor served dainty refreshments. Mrs. A. L. Richardson will be the next hostess to this club.

Mrs. Cornelia Barker Carse was honor guest at an informal Kensington and luncheon given by Mrs. Hal Bohnenkamp, 1701 First street, yesterday afternoon. Pink hyacinths were the central part of the centerpiece at the luncheon table where two delicious courses were set before the guests. Mrs. Bohnenkamp proved herself a charming hostess.

Mrs. L. D. Howland entertained the Eastern Star social club at the organization's last meeting. At five hundred, Mrs. Kiddle scored first and Mrs. Howland followed the afternoon at cards with refreshments. The next meeting of this club will be at the home of Mrs. J. E. Reynolds.

The "Teen Age" class of boys of the Christian Sunday school served a luncheon to the business men of La Grande Friday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The proceeds will go to aid the Sunday school work. "Hurrah for the boys," said the diners who were served.

Mrs. F. S. Ivanhoe entertained the Thursday Bridge club this week at her home on Cedar and Main. Red carnations was the basis of the attractive color scheme prevailing. Mrs. W. H. Bohnenkamp won high score.

Mrs. M. K. Hall will entertain the afternoon Kaffee Klatch next Friday afternoon.

"COME IN THE AFTERNOON"

The Neighborhood club met in the club room March 14th at 2 p. m. During the business period one new member was added to the club. After a brief intermission a very interesting program was given, as follows: The Tramway, by Mrs. E. Polack. After preparing a very instructive paper Mrs. Polack was prevented from attending the club and Mrs. Cochran read the paper which contained a splendid account of the foreigner on his voyage to America. Mrs. Polack's recent visit in Germany gave her the opportunity to write on this topic as only those who have seen can write.

Weighing the Ore, by Mrs. George Palmer. Mrs. Palmer portrayed so vividly the many trials that await the foreigner after he reaches Ellis Island, before he can really get into the land of the free. Many of the restriction laws were well explained; the sadness and disappointment that come to those that can not enter America but have to be returned to this native land, is indeed painful. Mrs. Palmer pointed out.

Mrs. P. A. Robbins sang very sweetly two Irish melodies, "Killarney" and "Mother Machree." Miss Stella Oliver was the accompanist.

Mrs. R. L. Poarch and Mrs. C. D. Putman are this afternoon concluding a delightful two-party series at the home of the Poarch family, 505 Adams. Yesterday afternoon the
