THE FORUM

La Grande, March 23.—(To the Editor).—I wish to call your attention to certain misstatements made in your editorial of yesterday concerning certain passages in my communication of same date. Your imputation that I said that the women and girls of this County are stunted and narrow is a misstatement and therefore untrue.

I said that many of them because of their isolated condition became heart sick and even stunted in their narrow existence, and this I now reiterate. Please note that I said many of them.

I was raised on a farm; my brother is at present a farmer and my sister a farmer's wife. I am familiar with a wide variety of farm life—having practiced my profession in farming communities during the last twenty years—and know whereof I speak.

I repeat also that a system of roads that are good even when it rains goes far to alleviate these conditions in any country, and that the best way to build these roads is in accordance with the experience of those who have already done so.

I would refer you to leading editorials in our largest newspapers; to publications issued by the U. S. government on the subject, and to reports of leading engineers. I shall not trouble you with any further communication on this subject as I am convinced that your mind is not unbiased thereon, or you would not "twist" meanings as you do, nor would you use part of a sentence in a communication to meet your ends with the effect of deteriorating the writer personally.

Yours truly,
M. K. HALL.

In reply, let the public read the two articles—one by Dr. Hall and the other an editorial comment—in Wednesday's Observer.

This paper will abide by the public's decision as to whether any twisting was done to the Doctor's article.

The original manuscript of Dr. Hall's communication is on file in this office and is exactly as it appeared in the paper.

We will say frankly, that our mind is not biased, but it is thoroughly made up to the fact that we are not going to stand meekly by and see a mortgage of nearly half a million dollars put on Union county when some other counties of the state have tried it and are almost bankrupt from its effect.

We do not believe that Dr. Hall can conscientiously accuse us of attempting to do anything with intent of deteriorating him personally. Such an accusation will be dismissed by the public with a smile, for it is too well known that during his career in public life this paper many times stood loyally by him. But in this hard-surface bonding plan we believe he is wrong, and hence will oppose him. —Editor.

GRANGE DEBATES BONDS

After Discussion Opposition Resolution Tabled For a Time

Cove, March 22.—(To the Editor)—Mt. Fannie Grange met as usual Saturday, March 18, and after enjoying a splendid dinner and St. Patrick's day program, proceeded to discuss the bonding (for roads) proposition.

Resolutions denouncing bonding, similar to the resolutions adopted by Blue Mountain Grange, were submitted for adoption and after a sharp discussion, it was decided to debate the question.

Messrs. M. L. Carter and George Miller, against it, cited high taxes and graft and the selfish interests back of certain parties promoting the bonding campaign as argument against bonds.

Jess Dalton (talking for bonds) cited raised land values wherever good roads have already been built; he also pleaded the acknowledged general lack of reliable information on the subject, a sufficient reason why resolutions against the proposed bonds should not be adopted; he insisted and urged that the Grange be pledged open for information on the subject instead of adopting resolutions condemning it.

Chris. Stackland, also talking in favor of bonds, produced some figures to show that the interest and sinking fund on the proposed bonds would not equal two (2) mills on the present assessed valuation, which is no more than we are at present paying for dirt roads.

Also, that at the present time 70 per cent of the road money raised in a district must be spent there, thus effectually preventing the construction of any length of hard-surfaced road in any one district, at one time.

At the close of the debate, the Anti-Bonding Resolutions were voted tabled, and a committee consisting of Geo. Miller, J. W. Ingram and Chris. Stackland was appointed to procure some efficient debaters for both sides of the question; this debate to be held some time in the near future. Also committee was instructed to insist on the speakers bringing reliable data to prove any statements they intend to make, or remain at home.

An invitation is extended to all voters to come in and have a big general discussion of the subject from all the points that it will affect the tax-paying and traveling public.

A COVE GRANGER.

Bird Protection Saves Farmers 80 Million.

Winnipeg, Man., March 22.—Game preservatoin in Manitoba, North Dakota and Minnesota was argued here today by the Audubon society. Declaring that it represented "the 96 per cent of the population that does not shoot prairie chicken," the society asks for laws protecting the bird whose eggs, it says, have largely been destroyed by frost. The protection of Plover, woodcocks, snipes and sand pipers would save American agriculture $80,000,000 a year the society says, because these creatures live on seeds and insects.

Citizenship Given to Former Convicts.

Salem, Ore., March 21.—Since the first of the year Governor Withycombe has issued 11 restorations to citizenship. Seven of these were granted to prisoners paroled by ex-Governor West. The prisoners to whom restoration of citizenship have been granted are: A. E. Rollins, convicted in Multnomah county for feloneous assault; John W. Wright, Coos county, obtaining money by false pretenses; Drake McCurdy and Ed Henderson, Washington county, felony; Lawrence L. Rarlington, Baker county, statutory offense; Curtis Helvey, Clackamas county, manslaughter; William Nash, Baker county, larceny; Charles Nelson, Multnomah county, obtaining money by false pretenses: Edward Carter, Multnomah county, felonious assault; Willis Lawrence, Sherman county, larceny; Harold F. Nelson, Clatsop county, violating section 2077 of Lord's Oregon Laws.

SOME BIG CHECKS

Slip of Paper Calls For Payment of Forty Millions

New York, March 21.—One of the three or four largest checks ever drawn in the United States passed through the Clearing House yesterday and was paid by the Mechanics and Metals National Bank. The check was for $43,538,131.11 and was drawn by Lee, Higginson & Co., to the order of the Guaranty Trust Company in payment of Midvale Steel and Ordnance 5 per cent bonds recently taken by a syndicate headed by the Guaranty Trust Company, Lee Higginson & Co., and the National City Bank.

The wiseacres said the record check was one of $62,075,000 in connection with a Pennsylvania bond sale. There was a check for $49,000,000 to the Pennsylvania Railroad last year. Leslie M. Shaw, as Secretary of the Treasury, drew one for $40,000,000 for the claim of the French syndicate in the Panama Canal purchase.

The Bigger the Dinner the More Coats You Wear

Berlin, March 3.—(By Mail)—John B. Jackson, former American Minister to the Balkans, now attached to the embassy in Berlin, tells of his meeting with the old King of Montenegro in Cetinje.

"In Montenegro," Jackson said, all officials wear blue shirts every day and over these, blue coats. When they go to the palace on ordinary business they slip on a green coat over the blue one, but at royal dinners they put on a white coat over the blue and green ones.

"That evening I dined with His Majesty, I was on one side and the foreign minister on the other. All of us had on the regulation three coats. As the dinner progressed we got warmer and warmer and finally the old king said: "Mr. Minister, you get on one side and Mr. Jackson on the other and help peel me out of this white coat. It's too hot."

The Republican position on the Phillipine question is now clear. The administration of the islands by the Democrats has been so bad that it proves the natives incapable of self-government.—The Masses (New York).
