"Damaged Goods" coming to Sherry's. Watch for dates. In reviewing this production in The Chicago Examiner, James Warren Currie wrote: "My typewriter stutters as I attempt to write about the film version of 'Damaged Goods'. One's feelings are those of a man when an express train has whizzed by at seventy miles an hour within an inch of his nose. The seven reels constituting Brieux's play are the dotted lines which make the dramatic moral diagram breathlessly clear. It is an opportunity given to understand with the eye what might not have been comprehended by the ear, though even this possibility was negligible as Bennett presented the play on the spoken stage. It is the realism of actual life.—Adv.

TAFT LEAGUE BOOMS PEACE

Chicago, March 23.—The League to Enforce Peace, of which ex-President Taft is head has started a movement to have the political parties in the coming national conventions at St. Louis and Chicago insert planks in their platforms endorsing the proposal that a league of nations be formed for the purpose of insuring future world peace, by the establishment of international tribunals to which international disputes can be referred, such nations to pledge their joint armed and economic forces against any signatory which declares war or begins hostilities prior to a recourse to such tribunals.

The League to Enforce Peace is not an anti-preparedness organization, nor is its aim to end the present European war.

For the purpose of gaining recognition at St. Louis and Chicago the Taft Peace League has begun an active campaign in each state to have introduced in local party platforms the following uniform plank prepared by the League's National Executive Committee:

"We endorse the proposal that a league of nations be formed for joint action under such regulations as such league shall adopt against any nation which proposes to make war without prior recourse to such world tribunals and methods of conciliation as such league of nations shall have duly approved."

The National Executive Committee has sent instructions to its officers, and representatives everywhere throughout the country, requesting them to acquaint delegates to the state conventions of all parties, what it is proposed to do, urging upon them the adoption of the plank in local party platforms.

"It will be readily understood," the letter says, "that unless the ground is prepared by such action in local political units, we shall have difficulty in securing the insertion of the plank in the platforms at the State and National Conventions."

The Taft League's membership comprises many well known leaders in political circles. Among them are ex-Gov. David R. Francis, of Missouri, just appointed Ambassador to Russia; Former Ambassador to France Myron T. Herrick, Gov. Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, Gov. Arthur Capper of Kansas, Senator B. Cummins of Iowa, James M. Beck of New York, Alexander Graham Bell, Judge George Gray of Delaware, ex-Senator Theodore W. Burton of Ohio, ex-Gov. John Franklin of New Jersey, ex-Ambassador to Mexico Henry Lane Wilson of Indianapolis, A. Lawrence Lowell, President of Harvard University, and ex-Secretary of State Richard Olney.

Among those in Oregon who are expected to co-operate are: Father John F. A. Waters, Erie Purcell, H. P. Barrs, Pres. W. J. Kerr, E. W. Liljegren, Everett A. Brown, Alfred W. Cauthern, Henry L. Corbett, William H. Galvani, Hon. William S. U'Ren, William D. Wheelwright.

The platform of the Taft League in full, as adopted last June at Philadelphia in Independence Hall, is:

"We believe it to be desirable for the United States to join a League of Nations binding the signatories to the following:

First. All justifiable questions arising between the signatory powers, not settled by negotiation, shall, subject to the limitations of treaties, be submitted to a judicial tribunal for hearing and judgment, both upon the merits and upon any issue as to its jurisdiction of the question.

"Second. All other questions arising between the signatories and not settled by negotiation, shall be submitted to a Council of Conciliation for hearing, consideration and recommendation.

Third. The signatory powers shall jointly use forthwith both their economic and military forces against any of their number that goes to war, or commits acts of hostility, against another of the signatories before any question arising shall be submitted as provided in the foregoing.

"(No provision is made for the enforcement of the decree, however. Under the plan nations may fight after arbitration, if they feel that justice demands it.)

"Fourth. Conferences between the signatory powers shall be held from time to time to formulate and codify rules of international law, which, unless some signatory shall signify its dissent within a stated period, shall thereafter govern in the decisions of the Judicial Tribunal mentioned in Article One."

State branches of the League have either been formed or are in process of formation in every state of the Union.

AVENUE PAVED 40 YEARS

New Yorker Tells Conditions of Good Old Pennsylvania Back In '76

Washington, March 5.—"Forty years ago this day Pennsylvania, avenue, that splendid highway which gave to Washington the name of the 'City of Distances,' was torn up from the Capitol to the Treasury Department," remarked Charles Dunlap, of Cohoes, N. Y., at the Raleigh. "The condition of Pennsylvania avenue on February 22, 1876, is distinctly impressed on my mind, because the day before, that is February 21, I made my first visit to Washington. But what served to make permanent the impression on my mind was the majestic figure of President Ulysses S. Grant standing on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street watching with deep interest the workmen tearing up the wooden blocks with which the avenue then was paved. The picture of Grant, in his frock coat and silk hat, with his inevitable cigar tightly clenched between his firm jaws, watching the workmen tearing up the blocks, apparently more intent upon the operation than upon affairs of state, made an indelible impression on my mind. "The wooden blocks had been placed on the avenue by 'Ross Shepherd, and he had a hard fight against the taxpayers of the district to get enough money to pay for the paving of the street. It was one of the great triumphs of the Shepherd regime, and the day the laying of the blocks was completed there was a carnival on Pennsylvania avenue. These blocks did not last a great length of time, I was told, and when they were removed the first asphalt pavement on the avenue was laid. President Grant was as much interested in the paving of the highway as anybody, and almost daily he would leave the White House to go to the corner of the avenue and Fifteenth street to watch the men at work. Since then there have been three or four times that the avenue has been repaved, always with asphalt, but the horse-cars have been replaced by electric trams."

EARLY HISTORY WANTED

Self-Written History of Early Times Wanted From Participants

Believing that early history is most accurately put on record when written by the participants, and realizing that men and women who came to the Grande Ronde prior to 1870 are rapidly thinning in ranks, the Observer is beginning a self-written history of Union county. Here is the plan:

This paper will welcome, and publish, any short narrative of early pioneer life in Union county, written by the participants, or upon reliable information from such people. This should refer to any interesting episode in the early life of the writer, dealing with conditions as they then existed. To allow as many as possible to contribute to this department, a limit of about 300 words is placed on each. Articles should be signed by the writer, and deal with actual facts so far as it is possible to ascertain them, so that in years to come, this department will carry a true, accurate history of the first 10 or 15 years of white settlement of Union county. Any unusual episode, or purely historical description of the arrival of some immigrant train or colony, are suitable themes of discussion. There are many others. Any pioneer of Union county is cordially invited to contribute to this department, addressing information to "Pioneer Editor," La Grande Observer.

CARUSO IS REAL GENEROUS

Girl Asks Singer For Stub Of Cigarette And She Gets It

New York, March 5.—As Caruso left the opera-house after the performance of "La Boheme" he was at the end of a cigarette in a holder. Outside the stage entrance was the usual crowd of admirers.

As the tenor reached the street a young woman waltzed up to him and requested him for the butt of the cigarette.

"Wat for?" asked the singer.

"S' etimo santofir entteet huadanaa 'Souvenir," replied the stranger.

"It's your," said Caruso as he ex-
