

It Is Time For Sassafras Tea

A tea made from sassafras bark is an old-time domestic remedy for the blood. Sassafras has real value as a depurative, that is, a remedy that expels waste matter from the system.

We sell a lot of it each spring and have received an especially fine lot of carefully peeled sassafras root bark for this season.

Try it for a while as your morning beverage.

To ascertain the relative standings of La Grande dairies as graded by the State Dairy & Food inspector, a La Grande man who recently moved to town and desired to become a patron of some dairy, wrote to the state inspector. The answer affirms that the dairy industry in La Grande generally rates high, and the respective standings of each dairy is given. It so happened that the writer for information was tentatively dealing with the dairy with the highest mark.

"Damaged Goods" coming to Sherry's. Watch for dates. In reviewing this production in The Chicago Examiner, James Warren Currie wrote: "My typewriter stutters as I attempt to write about the film version of 'Damaged Goods'. One's feelings are those of a man when an express train has whizzed by at seventy miles an hour within an inch of his nose. The seven reels constituting Brieux's play are the dotted lines which make the dramatic moral diagram breathlessly clear. It is an opportunity given to understand with the eye what might not have been comprehended by the ear, though even this possibility was negligible as Bennett presented the play on the spoken stage. It is the realism of actual life.—Adv.
