"THE GOLDEN CHANCE"

Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, the distinguished Lasky stars, who will appear together in "The Golden Chance" at the Arcade, Friday and Saturday, will be seen, according to Cecil B. De Mille, the Lasky director general, in the first real love story ever seen on the screen. "The Golden Chance" has to do with the adventures of Mary Denby, the wife of the drunken, thieving Steve Denby, who is thrust by the society woman for whom she is working, to fill a vacancy at a dinner, where a wealthy young bachelor falls head over heels in love with her and his affection is reciprocated: how the husband, in attempting to burglarize the house finds his wife and later attempts to blackmail the young bachelor, but is killed after a desperate fight, must be seen to be appreciated. In the cast supporting Miss Ridgely and Mr. Reid are such well-known artists as Horace B. Carpenter, Elythe Chapman, Raymond Hatton, Ernest Joy, Hazel Childers and other members of the Lasky all-star stock company.

"THE FOURTH ESTATE" MADE IN MAMMOTH PLANT OF CHICAGO HERALD

No other profession or industry—call it which you will—has so many diversified types as newspaper making. No other vocation so completely humanizes its workers, those super-energized men and women whose sole purpose in life is to emancipate from chaos the news of the day. All of these types are portrayed in "The Fourth Estate," at Sherry's today and tomorrow.

It brings one face to face with conscienceless copy readers, adjective-cooking sob sisters, murderous-hearted city editors, haughty copy boys, stoop-shouldered make-up men, facile-penned rewrite men, and alert reporters, besides the many other types found in the news and the mechanical ends of the huge, present-day paper.

Samuel J. Ryan, who plays the part of the political boss in the William Fox feature photoplay, "The Fourth Estate," is one of the best known men on the American stage. He became famous in "Irish Aristocracy," and "Muldoon's Picnic," and in later years played big parts in "Little Johnny Jones," the "Yankee Prince," and other Cohan and Harris productions.

War Oddities

London.—Private S. Cross, Dorset Regiment, owes his life to a pocket bible which was pierced by a bullet as far as the following text: "A thousand shall fall by thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand but it shall not come nigh thee."

Gilford, Eng.—Twenty five women have been enrolled and uniformed as special constables.

London, March 30.—Thomas Kinsey dean of transatlantic purvers, ended his eleven hundredth round trip across the ocean when he arrived here today and began his well earned retirement. His first crossing was from Liverpool to Philadelphia in 1853. Maritime experts estimate that in his career of 63 years on the water Kinsey has traveled four million miles.

Society Girls Carnival Costumes

New York, March 30.—S-s-sh! Sister Susie's sibilant whisper is sizzling hissing excitedly around the outskirts of Gotham's high society today, telling about those carnival costumes the ultra-fashionable girls are going to wear to the Mi-Carmene ball at Sherry's tonight. Now don't tell a soul, but well! you know how high the skirts and how low the necks they are wearing on the streets. Well! and in the middle of Lent, too! Isn't it shocking? But, gee! I'd like to be there.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Surgeons state men are slightly more subject to appendicitis than women. La Grande people should know that a few doses of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, often relieve or prevent appendicitis. This mixture removes such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-i-ka is surprising. #### NURSERY STOCK A MENACE

Washington, D. C., March 28.—The United States Department of Agriculture, through the Federal Horticultural Board, has sent to all eastern nurserymen an urgent request not to ship white pines, currants and gooseberries west of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. This action has been taken in order to protect the white pine forests of the West from the white pine blister rust without, if possible, the imposition of a burdensome plant quarantine. At a conservative estimate, the value of the government and private holdings in these forests is $240,000,000. They would be in serious danger if the white pine blister rust, which has now gained a foothold in six eastern States and is suspected in the Ohio Valley, should spread to the Rocky Mountains. Gooseberries and currants are included in the Department's request because they can carry the disease as well as the white pine itself.

Warning to Western States
At the same time, the department has issued a warning to the States within the range of the western white pines, of the danger of allowing nursery stock of these three kinds, from eastern nurseries, to enter their territory. Inspectors of all western States have been asked to notify the Federal Horticultural Board of any shipments from points east of the States named. The reason for this action is that the white pine blister rust, a very destructive disease to all white pines, occurs also in a different form, as a leaf disease on currants and gooseberries. These two plants, therefore, may carry the disease to new regions and infect local white pine. Like citrus canker and chestnut blight, the white pine blister rust was brought to this country on imported nursery stock, before the passage of the Federal Plant Quarantine Act.

The department, in its letter to nurserymen, points out that if no shipments of these three plants are made from infected or suspected territory into the West, further action may be unnecessary. If, however, nurserymen ignore this request it is practically certain that an early date a Federal quarantine, which will prohibit the interstate movement of these plants from the infected States, will have to be established.
