"The Wrong Door" at Sherry's

AT ARCADE.

"He Fell in Love With His Wife."

The country belle will always be of a different type of beauty from her fashionable sister in the city. Somehow the opposite environments produce two radically different kinds of beauties.

The city beauty acquires the smartness, finish, and self-centered reserve that fits her for the ambitions of her set.

The country maid, on the other hand in her free touch with Nature acquires that simplicity of outlook, that manifest womanliness, and freshness, and perfection of charm so appealing. The perfection of this type is exemplified in Florence Rockwell's portrayal of Alida Armstrong in "He Fell in Love With His Wife," at the Arcade tonight and tomorrow's matinee.

As the poor-house bride-house-keeper of Holcroft, the singleminded farmer she possesses all the charms and requirements that go to make the complete farmer's wife. It is therefore easy to see that when Alida sets his ill-kept house in order and graces it with the charm of her presence, Holcroft should fall in love with her. The story of this love affair makes one of the best romances ever produced in a photoplay.

AT SHERRY'S.

"The Wrong Door"—Today and Tomorrow.

The act of opening the wrong door at a critical moment has been made the basis for a sensational photoplay of that title. Carter De Haven and his wife, Flora Parker De Haven, are the principal players in this thrilling film. The Sherry theatre has arranged to exhibit this important Bluebird Photoplay today and tomorrow for "film fans" who enjoy a series of interesting incidents, punctuated by unexpected developments and all blended into a love story of keen interest. "The Wrong Door" will provide stirring entertainment.

When stricken with rabies, however, it does not hesitate to snap at everything in reach and to attack men as well as dogs and cattle. In this condition it does not eat and consequently can not be killed by poisoned baits. In controlling the disease the Bureau of Biological Survey purposes first to prevent its spread by killing off the coyotes along the borders of the infested districts. After this has been done, the infested areas themselves can effectually be rid of the animals and the disease stamped out.

Germany has abandoned plans for an imperial monopoly of all electric plants.
