There's This Difference. When a woman buys a hat and meets another woman: "How do you like this hat, dear?" "Lovely, simply lovely. You have such good taste." (Later "Of all the hats I ever saw that's the worst.") When a man buys a hat and meets another man: "How'du like the hat, Mike? Class, eh?" "Say, is that a hat? Who stung you?"—Detroit News.

The Trouble. "Confound the luck!" growled the visitor. "Here's this front door been freshly painted!" "Yes," said his friend from a safe distance. "It is hard luck. Any one to look at you can see you have been up against it."—Baltimore American.

White Elephants. So called white elephants are light gray in color. The lightest ever seen in Siam was one brought over to Bangkok by a European circus, but the rains fell and the paint came off.

Contradictory. "Poetry is an ascent to the heights." "That's what I think. Yet when you start to write it people say you have dropped into verse."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
