Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day
 Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning luke bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Even, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have scallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

CONFERENCE UNDER WAY

REV. EDWARDS SENDS SIDE-LIGHTS
 Notes from Methodist Conclave Light on War.

Some interesting sidelights on the Methodist conference at Saratoga Springs, now under way, are contained in the Daily Christian Advocate, published each day of the conference. Rev. Edwards, pastor of the Methodist church here, is at the conference, and in a recent copy of the daily church paper which he has forwarded, the following excerpts are contained:

General Conference Notes
 One effect of the war in Europe as it touches the General Conference is seen in the absence of delegations from the North Germany and South Germany Conferences. Our work in Germany has been very seriously interfered with because of the war, and it will be many a year before it can be rebuilt and brought up to the high degree of efficiency and promise that it had reached before August, 1914.

The applause with which the references in the episcopal address to Bishop Nuelson were received was unmistakable. The difficulty of episcopal administration of our work in Europe during the last two years has been almost insuperable. Bishop Nuelson has acquitted himself in his particularly trying position with very great ability, and the General Conference was not slow to show its appreciation of his fidelity when the opportunity for disclosing it came.

It was intensely interesting to talk with Mr. W. F. Freeman and his wife, of London, England. They are on their own responsibility and at their own expense, traveling around the world to study Sunday School conditions, Methodist universities, colleges preparatory schools, and all other Methodist interests. Before reaching General Conference they had already visited, since Jan. 1914, Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, Fiji, Yonga, Samoa, and Canada. Mr. Freeman has been for years the honored lecturer of the Wesleyan Methodist Sunday School Department of England.

The sharp sentences in the Episcopal address dealing with The Living Wage reminded one delegate of an incident in a mill town. "Yes," the delegate had been told by the head of a family, one of his members, "we get a living wage all right, but it takes three of us to earn it. My wife, daughter and myself work all the time and between us we earn $21 a week, enough to keep the family." If the Church could accomplish what the bishops had in mind when they framed the paragraph on the living wage, the whole standard of living would be changed.

Did you notice that the Bishops came out squarely in their address in support of the Keating-Owens Child Labor Bill? This is an example of the way in which the church may work effectively in behalf of state policies which embody the principles of Jesus, without forming any sort of alliance with the state. This pronouncement of the bishops follows the precedent made by our denomination as a leader in setting forth the attitude of the Church to social questions. It will be remembered that the Methodist Church furnished the first draft of "The Social Creed" and was first to adopt it; this Creed has since been adopted by all American Protestantism. How many delegates, by the way, have read the Social Creed?

When the Apostle's Creed was repeated in eight different languages on the floor of the Conference on Monday morning, it was more than an impressive novelty. It was the clear evidence of the socializing influence of the missionary movement. It is a great world-fusing force that is evident here, a force that is slowly but surely forming before our eyes a new world life. If ever the race achieves a real internationalism, (that means a real world brotherhood), the missionary movement and the social movement each forcing all peoples to think in terms of common need, will have no insignificant part in the achievement.

The General Conference did a gracious thing when it adopted the resolution offered yesterday morning by Dr. Edwin Locke of Kansas, instructing the secretary to send affectionate greetings to Dr. Ward Platt in Philadelphia. Because of his illness, Dr. Platt, one of the three efficient secretaries of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, is unable to appear in his place in the Genesee Conference delegation. It is gratifying to know that his chances of complete recovery are considered very good by his physicians. The resolution of Dr. Locke was heartily endorsed by Dr. Coman, Chairman of the Genesee Delegation and by Dr. C. M. Boswell, one of Dr. Platt's colleagues, who said that he had a brief interview with Dr. Platt the other day, at which the announcement was made by the physicians attending him that all dangerous symptoms had disappeared, and that Dr. Platt is on the way to rapid recovery.

As one looks down from the Conference platform and notices the different types of faces, negroes, Koreans, Hindus, whites, he is also struck with the different kinds of garbs that show themselves here and there on the Conference floor among the various delegates assembled. Not the least among these is the fact that four times the little black cap, and the clean white ribbon of a Deaconess are seen. Four of our Deaconesses are representing their Conferences at this gathering.
 A General Conference delegate says

A Policy of Helpfulness

It is the purpose of the Officers of The United States National Bank to encourage every man, woman and child to open a savings account, no matter how small the start might necessarily be.

We have seen many of our largest accounts developed from small beginnings—we have watched the gratifying financial growth of patrons as the result of persisting saving and accumulating interest at 4 per cent.

As little as $1.00 will register the start. Your account is invited and our complete facilities are immediately at your disposal.

The United States National Bank La Grande, Oregon.

the daily sessions of the Conference remind him of the sound one hears as he approaches Niagara Falls on the railroad train; namely, the sound of many waters.

In Bishop Harris' valedictory address of Wednesday night he made a statement that was news to many and that brought much applause, the statement being, "For the first time in the history of the Empire of Japan, owing, I am sure to Christian training and ideals, when the recent Emperor of Japan was crowned, side by side with him was also crowned his wife, the Empress."

John Rodrigues, lay delegate and local preacher from India, is on the first trip to America and he is positively not afraid of the submarines. However, he will admit that he did ponder a long time as to whether to risk the high seas in order to attend this great Conference, and with a smile said that he was not afraid because "He creeth for me."
 Hon. William Jennings Bryan has been secured to deliver the address at the anniversary of the Church Temperance Society which occurs on Monday evening, May 22. It is needless to say that this champion of Temperance will have a great hearing in Convention hall at that meeting.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.
 Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet preparation. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.
