Realism Dominate Production and Places It On Plane by Itself.

(Today and Tomorrow.)
Sometimes the theme of a play takes such a hold upon the men and women called upon to portray the varying roles that it lifts the actors entirely out of themselves and converts them into creatures strange even to themselves.

Such a thing has happened in the William Fox feature film "The Marble Heart," in which Violet Horner, Louise Rial and Walter Miller are so real in their remarkable roles that no one in an audience watching the picture ever could be convinced that they were merely actors, playing parts. They are the actual participants in a great and tragic domestic drama living and feeling every emotion; not merely people trying to duplicate fancied emotions set forth at the point of an author's pen.

AT ARCADE.

Story of Great Drama of International Intrigue.

"Diplomacy," in which Maris Doro repeats upon the screen the triumph which she scored upon the stage in the role of Dora, is the next Famous Players-Charles Frohman feature in which this delightful star appears. It is the Paramount picture at the Arcade Friday and Saturday.

The story of "Diplomacy" is a tale of international intrigue involving the theft of the plans of Gibraltar by a foreign spy. Julian Beaulere has just been appointed to a position in the British diplomatic service. His first commission is to take the Gibraltar plans to the Spanish legation.

Julian has just been married to Dora, after a romantic courtship which began at Monte Carlo, and his family knows nothing of the girl whatever. There is a Comtesse Zicka, a Russian in the employ of secret foreign agents, who has been desperately in love with Julian and is determined to combine the carrying out of the stealing of the plans with the wreaking of revenge upon Dora for her intrusion.

The Comtesse succeeds in stealing the documents and induces Dora to write a note to Baron Stein, her accomplice, in which the conspirator slips the stolen drawings. She then contrives to have this not fall into the hands of Henri and Julian, who can do nothing but follow up the clue. Thus is suspicion cast upon Dora, whose husband is very forcibly reminded of the fact that he knows nothing of her except what she has chosen to tell him. Dazed by the turn of events, Julian pleads with Dora to confess everything to him and declares that he will do all in his power to shield her.

Angered, shocked and terribly hurt by the knowledge that her husband believes her guilty, Dora is wild with indignation and then completely crushed by his lack of faith in her. With a clue he runs down the trail that finally points to the Comtesse as the real criminal and the name of Dora is cleared.

Jane Addams—In each of the warring nations there is this other point as everywhere that this war was an old man's war; that the young men were dying, the young men who were doing the fighting, were not the men who wanted the war, and were not the men who believed in the war.

It don't hurt a fact to hammer it.

It's a fact we are dealing with the public and the public is entitled to know the facts.

The fact that we are doing business in a scientific and practical manner is proven by the fact that we are doing the largest and most successful grocery business in the county.

The fact that we are saving our customers at least 5 per cent on their groceries is due to the fact that we are satisfied with a smaller profit.

The fact that we buy in carload lots at a wonderful saving and pass the saving on to our customers is evident by the fact that our trade is ever growing.

YOUR HOME

Not a rented house—but Your Ownest, Own Home—the home that is the foundation of American citizenship, of true manhood and womanhood—the home that the growing children will remember as "their home."

That's what we want to talk to you about. It's a mistaken idea that the cost of building a home in La Grande is excessive—it is not, and we stand ready to convince you of this fact.

Besides carrying a complete line of our pine, fir and tamarack, we have coast fir, the hardwoods, building paper, doors and windows and in fact everything that goes into the construction of a home.

Let us talk to you on this most important subject—YOUR HOME.
