

CLASS OF '16 ENDS COURSE

CREDITABLE GROUP LEAVE SCHOOLS THIS WEEK

Teaching Staff Too Has Come to Parting of the Ways

A class of graduates from La Grande high school 27 in all, that individually are creditable and worthy of the honors bestowed upon them, went out from under scholastic life Thursday evening of this week. The parting of the ways has come to the students—and to many of the instructors too, for the faculty has been shattered by resignations of various ones who have other locations offered them. The class of 1916 is likewise the last under the tutelage of John Girdler.

A wide range of activities befalls the average high-school pupil and in this case it is no exception. The graduating class takes with it many of the leading lights in academic, musical, oratorical, debating, sports and other fields of endeavor, and their places must be filled by underclassmen.

Glossary To Cuts

The list of instructors, their source of learning, and the subjects they taught this year, followed by the graduates, giving their course, student body activities, etc., follow. Numberals after each student indicate the year that particular activity was followed:
