

The New and Rare Drugs

From the laboratories of the world new drugs are constantly coming. Constant search is made for remedies that can alleviate suffering or cure disease. We anticipate the demand for important remedies of this kind and usually have them in stock before they are called for. We intend to be up to the times or even ahead.

Therefore when unusual remedies are wanted in prescriptions or otherwise, come here for them. We have them if they are to be had.

HOTEL MEN BANQUET

this county may not be impeded. Banquet a Great Success. The banquet last Friday night was a glittering success from every viewpoint. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd H. Wilkins, the new proprietors of the New Jennings hotel, staged the formal opening and invited as their guests hotelmen and women from the different towns and cities in Wallowa and Union counties. A large number responded and together with the people of Joseph and a large delegation from Enterprise they gathered around a banquet table that carried a menu of a metropolitan cafe.

Speeches occupied the evening following the banquet until after midnight and then the social dance followed which lasted well into the morning. It was one of Joseph's greatest social events in the town's history and through it all ran the vein of good humor and neighborly spirit which is bound to tie the towns and cities of Wallowa and Union counties closer together.

The house guests for the occasion were Daniel Sommers of Elgin, J. E. Henschinger and wife of Wallowa, Lark Park, C. M. Goodman, manager of the Loring hotel, D. E. Baker, and wife of the City hotel, Enterprise; C. A. Miller and wife of the Miller hotel, Wallowa; Mrs. K. S. Rogers of the Hotel Enterprise; C. G. Holst and wife, owners of Hotel Jennings building; Miss Ruth Wilkins, Enterprise; F. C. Howe and wife of the Hotel Joseph.

Following are the special guests of the evening: G. S. Reavis, E. D. Rinehart and wife, Charley Zerker and wife, C. Fairchild and wife, J. B. Olmsted and wife, Daniel Boyd and wife, Frank A. Clarke and wife, all of Enterprise, and Bruce Dennis of La Grande.

Added to the foregoing lists are those who were banquet guests: Mrs. David Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Morelock; Mr. and Mrs. F. Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gault, H. J. Baughman, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eben, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. son, Mr. A. Bodmer, Cordan Ragsdale, N. E. Bondan, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rupp, all of Joseph; Miss Esther Hawley, Chicago; Mrs. Affie B. Hanna, of Marr Flat.

The next meeting of this association will be at Elgin June 5th.

CARNIVAL NOW IN FULL TILT

LIGHTS FAULTY LAST NIGHT BUT NOW REMEDIED.

Program This Afternoon Delayed Until Four and Then She Goes.

Although the opening night was marred by an accident to the lighting system, which will occur no more, the big carnival which is here for the week opened last night in a blaze of glory. The little folks were out in great numbers and so were the older ones. Of course the merry-go-round and other attractions were popular places, but somehow the whole show got away to a good start. First of all the management assures the public there will be no further trouble with lights during the week.

Program Delayed Today. Because this is Memorial day, the program this afternoon does not begin until 4 o'clock and from then on the afternoon and evening there will be hilarity galore.

The carnival has some good attractions. The various entertainments are clean and snappy and the city is certain of a good week's entertainment. When the program opened last night there was a big crowd out to see the fun, and but for the slight trouble with lights there was nothing to mar the evening's entertainment. The management comes to La Grande with a long string of lauding praise from towns where the carnival has been.

Come out tonight at 4 o'clock and get the carnival spirit—there will be fun for all. Get in the game.—Adv.

LAKEPORT MAY BE REVIVED

Report Says Place May Become Summer Resort

Marshfield, Dr., May 29.—(Special)—There is a probability of Lakeport, the deserted boom town, being revived, according to reports emanating from Curry County. Lakeport was founded in 1907. People flocked there with the understanding that Lakeport would be the coming seaport of Oregon. The promoters said they would cut a channel through the sandspit between the ocean and lake and make an influential harbor of the town. Then the bottom dropped out and, four years ago, there was not an inhabitant left in the place. The locality is an ideal one for a summer resort, being surrounded by forest and stream, a fine lake beside the town, and the ocean only half a mile distant. S. R. Hayworth, of La Grande, has taken an option, according to report, on the unsold property, and thinks of reopening the place, principally as a summer resort.

COL. MOSBY DEAD

—although he had many enemies in both sections. He was the originator of the Mosby method of warfare; to use only picked men and to make each man seem a hundred. So dangerous was he to the North that he was declared an outlaw and denied the right of surrender at the end of the war.

Cavalrymen searched for Mosby in the Virginia mountains until General Grant, appealed to by Mosby's wife, ordered the outlawry order cancelled. Colonel Mosby started life peacefully enough at the Mosby plantation at Edgemont, Powhatan County, Va., where he was born in 1833. He was graduated from the University of Virginia—a full fledged lawyer at nineteen—in 1852.

When the Confederacy called for troops, Mosby enlisted with Gen. J. E. Stuart's First Virginia Cavalry. In Stuart and Mosby, the regiment furnished the South two of its famous officers. Stuart, then Colonel, became cavalry leader for the South, and it was to him that Mosby outlined the plan he had conceived for Mosby's Men.

In the winter of 1862-1863 the plan was completed and launched. Mosby giving a roving commission, circled to the rear of General Burnside, facing that of Lee along the Rappahannock River. His raid there was the first of many that took the heart out of the Union men who felt the sting of his little band of wasp-like cavalrymen.

It was Mosby's plan to hit quick and hard—always from behind, when he was cut-off from all help with hostile troops between him and his people. He was captured once and wounded several times. When he was captured he was taken to Washington. It was a matter of regret for the North that he was soon exchanged and sent back to his army.

After the war—and after Gen. Grant by his magnanimous order, had the order of outlawry against him lifted—Mosby started to practice law in Warrenton, Va. He started the South when in 1872 he voted for Grant—a hated Republican—for president.

Virginians could not understand the motives of Colonel Mosby—ostracized, he left Warrenton and went to Washington. He promised law until he was made consul to Hong Kong. On his return in 1885, he was put on the local staff of the Southern Pacific in San Francisco. He resigned and took a place in the general land office, investigating land frauds. In 1905 he entered the Department of Justice as special attorney. He was removed as "senile" by Attorney General Wickersham in 1910. Coincidentally with his removal, he published a book on the cavalry maneuvers of the battle of Gettysburg that seemed so far from "senile" that it was adopted as a text book by the War College. Since his removal from office, Colonel Mosby had made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Stuart Coleman, in Washington.

WAR PICTURES THRILL CROWD

HORROR ACROSS THE SEAS BROUGHT CLOSE HOME.

Sherry's Theatre Has Run That Is Indeed Instructive.

La Grande people last night were on the front trenches of the Great War with reserved seats. It came about when the war pictures were shown at Sherry's. The horrors of it all was driven home with great force and tonight's attraction, being the last, will no doubt have a big run of people who want to see the war from a safe angle. All the carnage of the catastrophe which pictures can tell, is shown on the screen.

To actually see within a few steps of one's home the struggle between men and nations in Europe where death stalks day and night bringing vividly to the mind of the spectator the horrors of war is what the Williams Feature Film company of Boise, Idaho, has successfully made possible in these pictures. None are more spectacular; none tell so true a story of the terrible fighting that is flooding half the world with blood. Not only are these moving pictures fascinating but they tell a moral—the folly of mortals struggling to kill one another.

The pictures have well been named, "A Grand Review of the War in Europe." They were taken by brave moving picture operators who took their cameras under the curtain of fire, facing many dangers, keeping step with Death in order that they might procure first hand the photographic story of at least part of the war. Their success has made it possible for millions of people to have brought home to them a graphic review of the great struggle.

pany secured these films for Idaho and adjoining states and under its auspices they are shown here. They are worth their weight in gold, but believing the people should be given an opportunity to secure closer insight of the European conflict, the company has made arrangements to show the pictures here at the nominal admission of 50 cents. The pictures ordinarily would be worth $2 a seat to anyone wishing to get a closer view of the mighty conflict across the ocean.
