ARCADE ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Arcade today and tomorrow will put on one of their big Triangle shows consisting of nine reels. As stated before in these columns Triangle pictures are being shown at $2 a seat but the management of the Arcade believes that since the prices of pictures have been raised so often lately and since these reels are received in the regular service the price of admission will remain the same—10 cents.

"The Submarine Pirate" is absolutely the greatest laugh producer screened. Syd Chaplin of the famous Chaplin family provides all kinds of laughter in his role as Admiral of the submarine. He is first an ambitious waiter, who steals the plans and the signals of two unpatriotic inventors. He buys an Admiral uniform at a second hand store, takes command of the undersea boat by means of the stolen papers and starts on a career of piracy. The first officer shows Syd how to operate the craft, but the comedian is careless with the levers and almost drowns the crew and himself.

This can only give the readers a vague idea of the treats in store for them but let it be said here that "The Submarine Pirate" differs from all other marine features in that it is an authentic presentation of actual conditions aboard United States E boats and on the seas when such boats are in active operation and sink or rise or discharge their torpedoes at an enemy.

The Navy department lent one of their Pacific Coast battery of submarines to Mack Sennet of the Keystone. A large passenger ship and a U. S. warship are also used in the scenes. Where Luxury Rules in This Play.

Among the big scenes that make the new Triangle-ince play, "The Edge of the Abyss," so attractive are a huge banquet scene, interiors of a wealthy home, a busy lawyer's office and a modern club with men of position and power amusing themselves. The public banquet shows a long table with men in evening dress and women in the latest creations of the modiste's art. They are all busily eating and chattering until Frank Mills, as the famous criminal lawyer, is introduced and makes a forceful and eloquent speech. The gradual growth of enthusiasm is shown as the listeners begin to get interested and finally interrupt with applause till at its conclusion they rise spontaneously and cheer and shout and resuscitate.

All the finery and luxuriousness of a rich man's home are shown in several scenes in which Miss Boland appears. In beautiful gowns of the latest mode she entertains guests in conversation or at the piano. A very striking picture is that of the boudoir which Willard Mack as the burglar starts to loot of its silver manuring sets and other articles of use and ornament.

AT SHERRY'S

"The Deathlock" at Sherry's Today Only.

John Johnson, known from one end of Alaska to the other as "the iron man of Dawson," a noted Klondike character and enigma dog "musher" of the world, with his team of Siberian dogs, is one of the many interesting characters of the snow country presented in "The Deathlock" masterpiece.

Johnson, when approached and asked to participate in the filming of "The Deathlock" the scenes of which were taken along the Yukon and in the neighborhood of Dawson City, at first declined, but a little persuasion and some of Uncle Sam's crisp bank notes finally won him over. One of the most thrilling incidents of "The Deathlock," is the finish of a race between a team driven by the champion "musher" and another celebrated dog driver named "Snow" Martin.

Johnson's "huskies" are not native born Alaskan dogs, as are the mutts, the canine ordinarily used in the snow country.

A Symbol of Health.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfills its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.

Boy Brought to Hospital

Dr. and Mrs. Law were in La Grande from North Powder yesterday bringing to the hospital Richard, the twelve year old son of Mrs. McLaren. The boy is afflicted with a nervous trouble which may later require an operation at the hospital.

Miss Payne, who is intensely patriotic with a real desire to serve her country, has already caused the enlistment of one man in the army, one in the navy, and two in the United States marine corps. Her recruiting is done entirely on her own account and has no official sanction.

John E. Crymes Has Good Success Organizing Sunday Schools.

John E. Crymes of the American Sunday School union just returned from a month's labor in Baker county. Two new schools were organized and many others visited. Three Baker county Sunday Schools have developed into churches.

A few years ago Mr. Crymes organized a Sunday School in the Grange hall district, three miles from La Grande. Many years ago a Sunday School was conducted in that district, but for a long time there had been no public worship. Last Sunday 48 persons were present and a picture of the group was taken. Ernest De Long is superintendent and Mrs. Carrie Spencer secretary of this flourishing new Sunday School. A new organ has just been purchased.

Mr. Crymes left today for Wallowa in which county much rural Sunday School work is being done. The American Sunday School union will celebrate its one-hundredth anniversary next year in Philadelphia. It has organized 125,000 Sunday Schools more than 2000 being established last year.

The Elgin K. of P. Band will accompany the local delegation. The Knights are planning to make the trip in autos, passengers paying the expenses of the trip or an amount equal to the regular train fare.

The entire interior has been enameled white and other special decorations have been completed. All now needed is the bunting, which will not be hung until just before the temporary chairman drops his gavel for the first business of the convence. For the purpose of ventilation and improved light a great portion of the roof has been removed and a series of glass sashes installed.
