NEW YORK STATE AND THE AMERICANIZATION PROBLEM

Americanization is a live issue in many States. New York appreciates its significance and has already taken steps on a State basis to Americanize the alien. In 1915 there were 397,000 foreign-born whites unable to speak English in that commonwealth, and 281,000 who could not read or write in any language.

The New York State Department of Education has begun the first state-wide campaign to abolish these disabilities. Its program covered the following procedure: (a) a careful survey of the immigrant education situation; (b) establishment of training courses to prepare teachers for the instruction of foreigners; (c) adoption of standards of efficiency in public evening school work for adult immigrants; (d) co-operation with State and Federal agencies; and (e) publication of State bulletins.

As a preliminary, personal investigations and intensive study of certain communities disclosed "dark spots" of illiteracy and "light spots" in the large industrial centers where efforts were under way to teach the foreigner English and give him some contact with American standards and ideals.

A teachers' training institute for the preparation of teachers of foreigners was organized at Albany in the fall of 1915. It was so successful that it was decided to continue it upon a permanent basis as a part of the regular curriculum of the New York State College for Teachers. Similar institutes are in operation at Buffalo and Rochester, partly as a result of State encouragement.

Co-operation with governmental and private agencies interested in educating and Americanizing the alien is already an established fact. A statement issued by the New York State Department of Education shows that the Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior, the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization of the Department of Labor, and the National Americanization Committee of New York City are among those whose services and material have been utilized. Speakers for institutes have been furnished by some of these cooperating agencies.

Two publications have already been issued by New York State—a Citizenry Syllabus, and the Rochester Plan of Immigrant Education—several

HIGH SCORES BY BOWLERS

HOUCK AND WALDEN SETTING NEW MARKS.

Alley Records Tied When Another Perfect Score is Made.

La Grande is rapidly becoming a center of remarkable bowling scores, and C. Walden and Ed Houck continue to be the makers thereof.

Listen to these scores: C. Walden and Houck made 132,789 pins in 100 games for an average of 1327 each double. Houck made 18731 pins in 81 games for an average of 231 in a month.

Remarkable High Scores.

The highest scores include: Walden 280, Houck 287, 280, 289, 298, 280, 300. This is Houck's second perfect score and his 298 mark was equal to the alley record which stood until Houck himself broke it a couple of weeks ago. Palmer has made 285, Scott 298 and Jokers 298 in the past. The highest three games: Houck 787, 802, 761, 766. Walden 770, 753, Reesch 742.

Says the Pendleton East Oregonian: Wesley Mims, captain of the Pendleton high school track team, has been generally selected to the all-northwest interscholastic track and field team. His record of 154 feet and one inch in the javelin throw, made in the Walla Walla meet, is the best made in the northwest this year or any other year by a high school athlete. Mims is the only eastern Oregon man to be selected on the theoretical team. Young Mims left yesterday for Portland to attend the Rose festival.

At a large open air theater, leading actors of New York will present a parody on Shakespeare. A sail on the round will be one of the unique features of the party.

Fashions

Her parasol is edged with fringe. And she's fringe on her dainty gown; Her curling lashes fringe her eyes And she lives on the fringe of town.

New York, June 2.—To be on the fringe of society is the last thing one could wish, but to have on the fringe of fashion is the latest thing one could wish.

Indeed it seems as if fringe were infringing on the popularity of all other trimmings. The fringed frocks is omnipresent and boasts anything from tiny edging to vivid hued yarn fringe to a deep fringe of silk, either black or of a tone to match or contrast with the gown.

It is used effectively on the bottoms of the wide skirts and to edge the bell-shaped sleeves.

One stunning evening model shows an entire overskirt of knotted silk fringe of yellow, black, blue, green and old rose over a petticoat of turquoise-blue chiffon. The sleeves are mere shreds of fringe and the apology for a bodice is a scrap of the turquoise chiffon.

The new wide cape collars are edged with narrow, colorful fringe; hats have a narrow yarn fringe edging and I even glimpsed a swagger damsel who wiped her up-dated nose on a handkerchief of pale mauve with a tiny old blue edging of thread fringe. Fringe is certainly up to snuff.

On the loose long taffeta coats and wraps either for day or evening wear the fringe is vying with the pinked ruchings as a finish but it is as a finish for a parasol perhaps that fringe reaches its truly highest point.

One smart sunshade of emerald green taffeta is built on the flat, many ribbed Chinese parasol lines with a blunt little business ebon ferule and a long knob-finished handle of the same glossy black.

A bright green silk cord is knotted round the handle, with a fitting loop through which its owner's fair arm is meant to stock when she shuts up her sunshade in shady byways and chooses to dangle it at arm's length.

The real finishing touch of this adequately lovely parasol, however, is an edging of three-inch black silk fringe that brooks no infringement of the sun's rays across the summer girl's countenance.

A zebra-stripe sunshade is one of black and white striped taffeta. The stripes radiate outward from the center and end in a fringe of alternate black and white striping to match the silk. The handle to this is of white with a black knob at the top.

A cerise parasol fringed like the black and green one is also very stunning though a bit prone to cast a too rosy glow over a healthy countenance. No one may expect to look pale and interesting under cover of a cerise sunshade.

A shell pink taffeta sunshade that is a mass of petal shaped scallops like a huge pink rose just adds the pink of perfection to a summer toilette of white net and pink picot ribbon, but a shade deeper it is wiser not to go.

A purple satin parasol veiled in a film of black Spanish lace with a quaint purple glass knobbed stick, in a Fifth avenue window is a replica of great grandmother's that now moulders in the attic and proves the aphorism that there's nothing new

In the Day's News

Mrs. Harwick, whose telegram signed "K. Adams" warned Percy Peck that his father, John Peck, did not die a natural death. She is one of the principal witnesses against Dr. Arthur Warren Walte, Peck's son-in-law, on trial for murder. Mrs. Harwick was known only as the "woman of mystery" until the prosecution announced that she was the niece of a physician who attended Peck.

thousand of the former having been widely distributed.

In view of the ebb and flow of the immigrant tide, as far as individual communities are concerned—for this foreign population largely follows the economic demands of the hour—New York is properly approaching this problem from the State point of view. It is hardly just to throw upon the community the entire burden of carrying out alien group.

The Empire State is thus setting an example which other of the so-called immigration states might well follow.
