PLATFORM CHIEF TOPIC

the convention recessed at one-thirty until four o'clock, when the platform will be adopted.

The Republican convention was delayed in getting started again. Mr. Harding arrived 15 minutes late. Joe Cannon meandered down the aisle carrying a lighted cigar and a guard stopped him and demanded his badge. Cannon started to remonstrate when 70 Illinois and Indiana delegates seized him and steamrollered the guard and placed Cannon in his seat.

It is raining dismally and an atmosphere of apathy continued today.

Harding called the convention to order at 11:22 and asked for a report of the credentials committee. Smoot read the report and the convention adopted it. The organization committee then recommended making the temporary organization permanent. At the mention of Harding's name as permanent chairman the crowd burst into sporadic cheering, which spread to a violent demonstration lasting five minutes.

Apparently the convention is no nearer a choice for nominee this afternoon than yesterday, but there is a noticeable increase of "pep" among the delegates.

More women are in the galleries. Upon reconvening at four this afternoon a two-hour discussion of the platform begins. It is reported the old guard is favoring a scheme to continue the afternoon session through the night until a candidate is nominated. Harding believed late today there would be no nominating speeches until tomorrow morning.

Depew poked fun at Wilson's foreign policies and called the President a "professor." Then he said: "A Ford machine is like a bathtub—everybody wants one and nobody wants to be seen in it."

Then he turned to Bryan sitting in the press gallery and called him the greatest pacifist near at hand. He said "Pacifists think if a foreign foe should attack, a million Americans in Fords would meet them and drive them back."

Although the Republican platform committee endorsed woman suffrage, 26 to 21, after a lively fight, opponents immediately threatened to demand a reconsideration because seven members were absent. It is expected the fight against suffrage will be renewed on the floor of the convention. Borah announced it wouldn't be reconsidered with the committee.

The committee defeated the universal military training plank 33 to 15. It adopted a plank denouncing the Democratic foreign policy.

Americans Defended by Carranza

Elks Urge Preparedness Parade

North Yakima, Wash., June 7.—A preparedness parade will probably be a feature in connection with the Flag day exercises June 14. A committee working on the parade feature has been asked by the committee of Elks, which is arranging the Flag day exercises will be held. Patriotic organizations have promised to assist.

One Corvallis Street to Be Improved

Corvallis, Or., June 7.—Corvallis is to have at least one street paved this summer, the city council having last night ordered the Southern Pacific company to remove its rails from Van Buren street so that the street may be improved. The council received petitions from more than 60 per cent of the people on Van Buren street between Second and Fifteenth streets, asking that the street be paved. Specifications have been drawn.

Many at Milton Show.

Milton, Ore., June 7.—Bright, warm June skies are today smiling down upon Milton and contributing a golden portion to the success of the annual Strawberry Festival and Horse show of this community.

Strawberry is queen over all and is offering her luscious sweetness to all who come to do her honor. Under the warm weather of the past few days the berries have ripened rapidly and have the flavor for which they are famous in this country. All morning home folks and visitors partook to fullness of the fruit that has no peer in popularity.

Despite the counter attraction of the Portland Rose Festival, there are large crowds in Milton for the annual festivities. The Walla Walla valley has sent in many hundreds while Pendleton, Walla Walla, Athena, Weston, Freewater and many other communities are well represented.

The horse feature of the show is even better than in preceding years, many fine animals being on exhibit. The judging will commence this afternoon and continue until all awards have been made.

This afternoon attention will be centered particularly upon the parade and the horse race between Milton, Freewater, Walla Walla and other towns. The carnival has opened up and is doing a thriving business among the merry-makers.

grandmother, her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Nuger, their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. S. Melville Unger, and the little 2-year-old daughter of the latter, Effie June Unger, who was dedicated in baptism.

Strikebreakers Assaulted at Salem.

Salem, Or., June 7.—The Pacific coast dock strike reached this inland town last night when a crew of strikebreakers on the river steamer Grahama, arriving from Portland was attacked by a dozen men who swooped down upon the boat from the cover of warehouses and shrubbery along the river bank.

Rocks were hurled at the crew and several men, including Captain C. Bloom were struck with stones, but not seriously injured.

The men who attacked the boat vanished before the police arrived. They are believed to have been sent here from Portland purposely to attack the Grahama crew.

COMMISSION DEEMS PROPOSITION FEASIBLE.

Rebate on Pause Assessments Asked for—Action Deferred.

A big docket of business came before the City commission at its mid-week session last evening at which all members were present. One of the important matters considered was an appeal from Mrs. Pause of North La Grande to have a portion of the street improvements against her property rebated. Some time ago the city issued a certificate to the property and she is anxious to secure possession again by compromise. The matter has been referred for the time being.

Delinquents on North Second will be read out in session next week after which the city will be in position to proceed with enforcement payment of the delinquent charges there. Some have signed up since the commission materially reduced the costs of the street improvements. Some of South Fourth are likewise settling up by raising the Hancock method rather than fighting it in the courts.

A petition from the Oregon Grocery company presented by O. M. Wall to build a corrugated iron warehouse within the fire limits was denied, the commission holding it conflicted with the city ordinances.

More bubble fountains for use of the public on the main streets were discussed and the matter met with approval. It is not unlikely that two or three additional fountains will be constructed.

The monument on Greenwood seems to be out of kilter, and when Julius Roesch had engineers "tie down" the stakes for the proposed garage on Adams avenue, the error was discovered. A check-up will be instituted so that the building may be accurately staked out.

The proposition of buying a lot or two for city tools storage came up again last evening. The Commission has its eyes on some Washington avenue lots.

Olive Slater and Mrs. Anson have petitioned for vacation of land near Pennsylvania where Third street, if extended, would penetrate. The matter is under consideration.
