R. STANFIELD HAS A FIGHT

RACE FOR SPEAKERSHIP ASSUMES PROPORTIONS.

Three Opponents Against Umatilla Man Take the Field.

Bob Stanfield, Republican candidate from Umatilla and Morrow counties to the state legislature, will have three opponents in his race for the speakership of the lower house. The Umatilla county man has been judged by many to be the strongest bidder for the honor but he will have strong competition in Dr. J. E. Anderson of The Dalles, author of the Anderson bill, which is said to have formed the basis for the present statewide prohibition law.

Dr. Anderson, following out the idea of Mr. Stanfield, has inaugurated a state-wide letter writing campaign. He is writing to nominees, warmly congratulating them and asking their support for the speakership.

However, Stanfield chances are still considered the best since the opposition will be divided.

The advent of Dr. Anderson in the field gives Eastern, Western and Central Oregon each a candidate. R. N. Stanfield, of Umatilla county, and L. E. Bean of Lane county, previously had announced. It is said that George C. Brownell of Clackamas, also will be a candidate.

Milk Good School Lunch.

Spokane, Wash., June 9.—Two months ago the health supervisor of the Spokane public schools began the experiment of supplying milk for the luncheons of pupils in two of the grammar schools. Dr. J. E. Drake, in charge of the work, this week pronounced it an unqualified success, and stated that the plan would be continued and enlarged.

"We did this because examinations showed that some of the school children were not sufficiently nourished," states Dr. Drake. "The malnutrition was due in some cases to lack of proper food and in others because the children would not take time to go home to lunch. We furnished the milk at cost and it was given free to those who could not pay for it."

"The teachers in the schools where we tried the plan report better work on the part of their pupils, due to improved health. I shall recommend to the board of education that the scheme be adopted in all Spokane schools this fall. The cost has been very small, as most of the children paid for the milk."

ARCADE SHOWS

PAULINE FREDERICK STARS AS "AUDREY."

Superb in Title Role of Famous Play-ers Adaptation of Popular Novel.

If an infuriated mob were at your back shrieking for your death, would you run away to save yourself, or would you stand and defy them? Though she is terror-stricken, Pauline Frederick refuses to seek safety in flight and dares the townsfolk to touch her in the Famous Players-Paramount adaptation of Mary Johnston's world-renowned novel and play, "Audrey," adapted by Harriet Ford and E. F. Boddington, which is the feature at the Arcade tonight and tomorrow.

The story of "Audrey" is a thrilling and dramatic one. She is found, the sole survivor of an Indian raid, and adopted by Marmaduke Haward, a young Englishman, who places her in the care of Gideon Darden, a minister. Haward returns to England on receipt of the news that he has inherited the family title and estates. The Dardens make a mere drudge of Audrey, who is forced to go about in bare feet, with the coarsest of clothing.

A half-breed trapper, Jean Hugon, falls in love with Audrey when she grows to maturity, though she despises him. He attempts to force Darden to insist upon Audrey's marrying him, but the girl revolts against the bargain which he guardian strikes. The young Lord Haward returns to America and on the same vessel with him comes Lady Evelyn with whom he falls in love.

From there the plot thickens and the finish must be seen to be appreciated.

New Letter Boxes July 1.

Washington, June 9.—About the last of this month Uncle Sam will begin putting up the first of several hundred thousand new design letter boxes all over the country. The new box design is the joint product of the Postoffice Department in Washington and the Art Commission of New York. While the design for the front was accepted by the Postoffice Department, the design for the ends is still subject to some modification, the design as a whole being termed somewhat conventional by Postoffice officials. The preparation for a design for the new boxes was taken up by the Art Commission in April, 1914. It was at first proposed to mount these boxes on pedestals, but this was disapproved by the Commission and the conclusion was reached to affix them to electric light poles. The Edison company of New York offered a design, but it was so ornate that the Postoffice Department declined, on economical grounds to consider it. The Art Commission then asked that the Postoffice Department appoint a committee to confer with the commission regarding a design for the box, and this was done. There were frequent conferences, with the result that Charles Kech, a sculptor, was commissioned to make a design. Upon suggestions made by J. A. Edgerton, purchasing agent for the Postoffice Department, Mr. Kech made a model of the proposed letter box and it was the subject of several prolonged conferences. Mr. Kech's design provides for a box of regulation size and shape. The front bears on the upper curve the word "Letters" and at the bottom "U. S. Mail." The handlebar and letters slide are similar to those on the boxes now in use, but care was taken to provide more effective action. The design for the sides was an American eagle with wide spreading wings but without the feathers, this being practically impossible in pressed steel, of which the boxes are to be constructed. The design for the front of the boxes proved acceptable, but the eagle was deemed rather conventional, despite the contention of the Art Commissioners, among whom were Mayor Mitchell, Robert W. de Forest, president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and John Quincy Adams, assistant secretary, that the design was highly artistic and should be adopted. The Postoffice Department subsequently prepared a substitute design for the ends showing a shield with the letters "U. S." and a wing above it. The Art Commissioners disapproved of the substitute design, and Mr. Kech went to Washington and urged the acceptance of the eagle design. The new boxes, of which several hundred thousand are to be placed in all the cities of the country, will cost approximately $6 each.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India both as a preventive and cure for cholera. You may know from this that it can be depended upon for the milder forms of bowel complaint that occur in this country. Obtainable everywhere.—adv.

Wasn't Theft After All

The police department was set into a flurry this morning when M. E. Crippen, serving sentence for conducting a near-beer nuisance on the North Side, declared that a one-legged man who slept at the jail last night, had stolen his pass on the O-W for which company he worked many years. Chief Ardrey rounded up the sleeper, but it was discovered that when Crippen carried a bucket of coal in, he lost the pass and the sleeper was therefore exonerated.

Caruso says he is willing to fight, and he certainly ought to be a wonder at charging.

Most Eminent Medical Authorities Endorse It.

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished authors—agree that whatever may be the disease, the urine seldom fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. If backache, scalding urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble just write Dr. Pierce at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.; send a sample of urine and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has examined the urine—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Dr. Pierce during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which he finds is thirty-seven times more powerful than lithia in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Auric" put up by Dr. Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies to-day—as well as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can get a sample of any one of these remedies by writing Dr. Pierce.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequaled as a Liver Pill. One tiny, sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.
